The Editor's column

by S. R. PADDOCK

We have always thought that Governor Stratton was a stubborn guy. It is being proven by his attitude toward the remonstrances being sent him by members of the National Guard. He calls it "firmness." His "tempest in a teapot" reminds us a bit of Truman's "red herring."

Northwest Cook County is only a small part of the State of Illinois, but Stratton's orders that the National Guard armories in this area be closed and the transfer of headquarters from Chicago to Peoria are poor judgment.

His excuse that he is going to save the taxpayers some money, seems to us a bit like an ostrich burying its head in the sand so it can't see the danger that threatens.

We spent a week end last summer with the National Guard at Camp Ripley. We never saw a more enthusiastic bunch of fellows —and they have to be enthusiastic in army training to spend their two weeks' vacation away from their families.

Over 500 of them were boys of the area served by this paper. We can envisage a lot of wives demanding that their husbands resign.

They will not like the idea of their husbands leaving home earlier and getting home later on Monday nights because of the greater distance they will be required to travel.

Now a word about that money saving. Uncle Sam is continually asking us to buy bonds, to give blood, supply nurses, to organize local civilian defense groups and plane watchers. This is all in the interest of national defense and we are all for it.

Uncle Sam is having enough difficulty to get the general public interested without the "it can't happen here" attitude of Stratton. What's the purpose of a voluntary plane watcher unit in Mount Prospect or other defense groups if the Governor of the State takes action that practically "fires" National Guard members by the hundreds?

An Arlington Heights school teacher is certain that his young son will some day become a top economist. He hired the boy early this winter to shovel snow at 25 cents a snow fall.

When he attempted to get his son out of bed the other morning to give the lad time to clear the walks of the very light snow that had fallen, the boy offered to hire his dad to do the shoveling. He told his parent, "Look, you will be 50 cents better off because you will save the quarter you usually pay me, and I will give you a quarter to do the job. Smart boy.

Because a letter addressed to the Fence Post was only signed "Old Timer," we cannot express to the writer our personal admiration. He has the greatest flow of words that has come to our attention for some time.

Although its publication would have taken ten inches of newspaper space, there were only four sentences. After reading them three times, we did not know if the author was roasting the aldermen who voted for the city manager or the other fellows.

We do wish that the author's name had been written down in one of the corners. A hundred words in one sentence is just too many for an editor's mind to grasp.

Arlington Heights Woman's club program labeled its last meeting "Reminiscing," but there were none present who could remember the earliest days.

The club's history written by Mrs. Daniels had provided the clues which enabled Village Theatre people to prepare and produce the script that turned the clock of time backwards 60 years.

The oldsters said, "It was true to life." The younger members discovered that their mothers and grandmothers took more than a passing interest in community affairs, although the men were not ready to accept them as equals in such matters until the twenties.

Way-Back-When knows it should omit mention of girls births from its column, but we took a chance last week. The young lady whose friends now know that she is forty years old, has demanded that we publish our own age. Here it is, "72."

We will hereafter omit mention of the births of girl babies. Our files tell us about the happy parents and we think they are still happy over their daughters, even if the latter prefer to deny the years.

Women do not want to grow old gracefully any more. Perhaps the blame should be put on the manufacturers of creams and face lotions that provide the camouflage that encourages women to get that way.

With such fine winter weather, we cannot use the temperature as an excuse for going to Hawaii. We have manufactured two excuses. We will get away from Arlington Heights city manager and parking problems.

We suppose it is too much to expect that each one of them will be settled by February 2 when we will return home.

We do not know how many people are welcoming the new residents in Rolling Meadows, but every household is receiving this paper, through its columns our advertisers are calling upon them.

A contributor to this week's Fence Post disputes the editor's statement last week that Davis st. extension is a dead duck. He wants the village to deny the building permit unless the firm will donate for a street part of the land they just purchased at a good price.

We doubt if the village board really wants another one of those jobs. It costs a lot of money. We have been so busy fighting things we do not want, that we can't blame our officials if they want to rest up before the next round.

We came across an example of communistic public relations this week. We are certain that copies of this paper do not get behind the iron curtain, but copies do reach subversives. The FBI tells us that it is common practice for communists to deluge with literature persons reported in the local press as speakers before large groups.

The FBI advises such persons to throw the propaganda into a waste basket. We would say, "Get rid of them quick or McCarthy will get you."

We've met a lot of street peddlers in our day, but a new racket popped up last week when Arlington Heights was invaded by automobile street hawkers from Elgin.

They parked their cars on one of our business streets and then started a house-to-house calling, asking the persons interviewed to come over near the bank and see their cars.

We understand that Mount Prospect has been asked to annex the forty acres between that village and Arlington Heights sewage treatment plant. It has been purchased outright from the Kirchhoffs and will be used for light industry — "And Arlington Heights can't do a thing about it," a Mount Prospect official smilingly remarked.

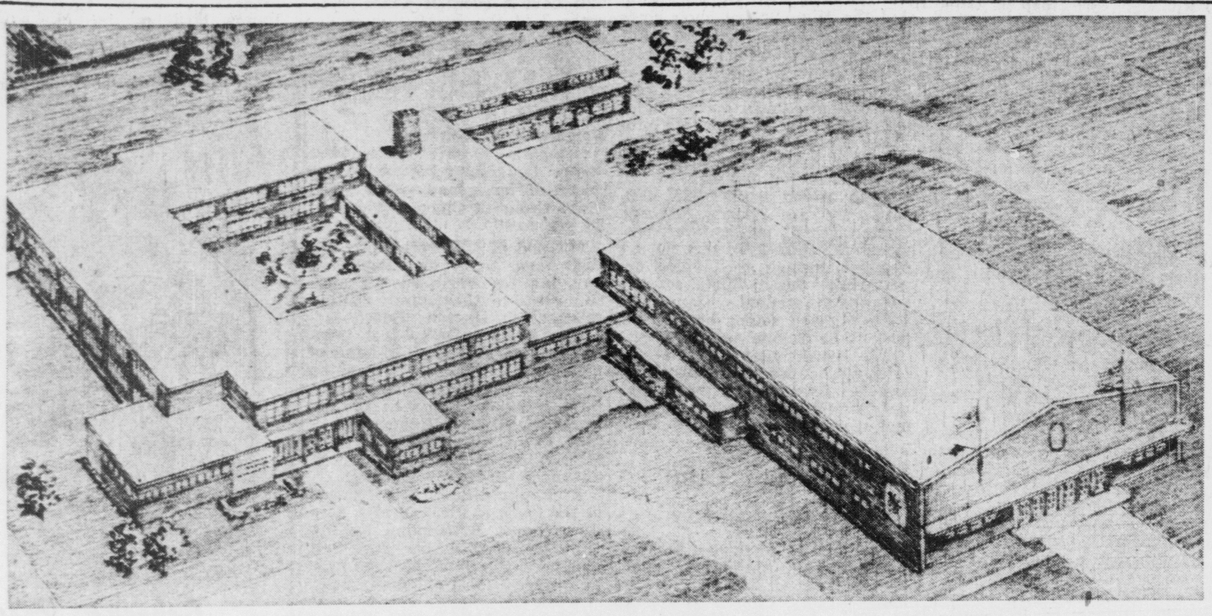

Will somebody tell those Mount Prospect people that Arlington Heights has a Master Plan and they can't do such things to us?

We just received some good news. A friend sent us a copy of an article from a New York newspaper which said that "A man who is in the sixties is nearer death than the man who has passed 70 years. It is the oldsters who are skillful and accomplished survivors."

No longer will be think that we have one foot in the grave. Having passed the dangerous age of sixty, we are on our second life span.

As truth of that statement, the New York paper pointed to Bertrand Russell, the philosopher, who is 81 years old and has just married for the fourth time.

Proposed new high school for the Arlington Heights high school district, which is to be erected on Foundry road and will serve students in Wheeling and Elk Grove township. An election for a $2,500,000 bond issue to erect the building is tentatively set for February 27. Walter Kroeber, architect of Arlington Heights, has designed the new building.

Complete Plans for New High School

Stonegate Residents Learn Values of Proposed Shop Center

"Perhaps the biggest single event in the modern history of Arlington Heights will be the realization of the proposed new shopping center," was the consensus of opinion following the meeting of the Stonegate Association Monday night.

Guest speaker was John Lindstrom, who proposes to erect the new center. He told the group of more than 100 Stonegate residents that the additional tax money derived from the shopping center will help greatly with the building of the new schools, roads and other improvements so badly needed in the village. It will also offer additional sources of employment and services to residents, which is needed inasmuch as residents are unwilling to allow industry to penetrate the village.

In his informal talk Lindstrom disclosed many of the aspects of the shopping center and its effect on Stonegate and Arlington Heights. He promised a more detailed repoort in the near future on stores interested in coming into Arlington.

Estimate Complete Cost Is Two And A Half Million Dollars

Plans and cost estimates of the new high school which is proposed for construction on the Foundry rd. property acquired last spring were released this week by the Arlington high school board of education. The plan calls for a steel frame, concrete block and face brick structure, the most economical large building type of construction for this area.

Three academic wings, surrounding a court for maximum light and ventilation, will be two stories. Shops will occupy a one story wing extending from the southeast corner of the rear of the building. On the opposite corner will be another wing housing the music and physical education departments. This will contain a large gymnasium which will accommodate, at least for the next few years, both boys and girls physical education classes. No extensive spectator facilities are planned at this time in view of those available in the present building on Euclid st.

A STAGE and main floor seating will, however, be entirely adequate for student and community assemblies. The library, located on the northwest corner of the main building, will be convenient to the main entrance as well as to the students' classes.

A particularly desirable feature of the plant, which will be able to house approximately 1300 pupils, is that it will contain from the outset specialized classrooms, such as those for science, home economics and the like, for a school of 2000, thus enabling expansion on a minimum cost basis and reducing the overall, long range cost.

Construction cost of the building itself is estimated at $2,100,100. Equipment is expected to run approximately $200,000, and an additional $200,000 will be needed for utilities installation and site development, bringing the total amount to be requested to $2,500,000. The $200,000 for utilities and site development, of course, is a "one time" expense and need not be repeated in the event of subsequent additions. The school will have its own water supply and will not, therefore, to the burden of either Mount Prospect or Arlington Heights in this respect.

Considering the estimated present assessed valuation of the high school district of $80,000,000 and the present and future growth of the area, this new and vitally needed community project is not expected to be any great burden on the individual taxpayer. It is estimated that the additional property tax on the average home in Arlington Heights, for example, will be only $10.68 a year over the twenty year period which the bonds would run. As such, this would amount to only twenty cents a week.

THE PROPOSED schedule of debt retirement calls for heavier retirement of bonds for the first few years, but this in turn would result in lower overall interest charges since bonds with early maturities generally sell at a reduced interest rate and, by early retirement of principal, would enable the district to meet future demands for expansion within the five per cent debt limit which has troubled so many districts. In this connection, it has already been determined that there will be funds within the bonding limit for further expansion and improvement of the present school on Euclid st. when that is needed.

In following its pledge to keep the public fully informed on the project, the board of education has scheduled some thirty appearances before community groups, bringing to each a full and illustrated story of the need, plans, and costs. Spearheading this informational program are board members George Sheppard of Prospect Heights, Arthur Skelton of Mount Prospect, and Kenneth Dougan of Arlington Heights, assisted, of course, by Elmer Laurin, president of the board and the remaining board members.

In order to give ample time for public discussion and consideration, the date for voting on authority to build and to finance the project has been tentatively set for February 27.

Northwest Cancer Group Meeting Monday Open To The Public

C. W. Desgrey, 436 S. Lincoln Way, Arlington Heights, has announced that the northwest suburban chapter of the American Cancer Society of which he is chairman, will hold a meeting Monday, January 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Dryden school auditorium in Arlington Heights.

DR. JOHN ROGERS

The meeting which is open to the public, will have as the principal speaker Dr. John A. Rogers, executive director of the ACS, Illinois division, since 1946.

Urging all interested residents to attend, Desgrey said, "We are most anxious that the communities in this area understand the fine work the American Cancer Society is doing.

"The ACS is the only voluntary health organization agency in the U.S. devoted to the control of cancer through a comprehensive program of research, education and service.

"Through research will be found the cause of cancer and improved methods for its detection, diagnosis and treatment. Not less than 25% of all funds raised are allocated for this purpose."

Exchange Students From Florida Arrive Saturday

The first student exchange program of Arlington Heights high school will get underway in earnest Saturday evening, when a group of students from Bradenton, Fla., and their faculty sponsors, will arrive in Arlington Heights.

A DETAILED schedule of classes, sight-seeing, and entertainment has been worked out for them by local participants who will act as hosts to the Floridans while they are here, and will be guests in turn February 13-20.

Each Bradenton student has been assigned to an Arlington Heights student and will be a guest in the latter's home. The students were assigned on a basis of common interests, and have been corresponding for some time.

The primary purpose of the project is education. It is hoped that both groups of students will find their interests, knowledge, and social and cultural backgrounds a little broader after sharing each other's experiences for a week.

Arlington Heights students have put in a great deal of time and effort in preparing for the exchange. The group has met at least once a week for several weeks to discuss plans. Panel discussions have been presented and dittoed reports distributed to enable all members to share the fruits of committee study.

PARENTS have met with the faculty, superintendent, and students to work on the plans. The final event of the program will be a meeting of all parents, the superintendent, students and faculty sponsors of both groups to evaluate the program.

Visiting students will attend some of their host's classes on Monday and Friday and will see a special assembly program of high school talent and addend a dinner dance given by the student council.

Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, will be spent in touring points of interest in Chicago, including the Museum of Science and Industry, colleges and universities, and outstanding examples of architecture, engineering, industry, and commerce.

Bradenton students will leave for their homes Saturday, Jan. 23. Arlington Heights students will leave for Florida February 12, and return to their homes February 21.

Students of the local high school participating in the program are as follows:

George Bullwinkel, Jon Busse, Dick Christian, David Ells, Bob DeNapoli, Dave Fellingham, Bill Gappert, Bill Garrett, Bob Harrington, John Landmeier, Bill Malcolm, Doug Morrissey, Frank Precilio, Alan Smeby, Gar Williams.

Bonnie Barrow, Kathleen Cooke, Sana Franke, Judy Hall, Marcia Hausler, Joan Keppler, Ada Kilbury, Judy Laird, Cynthia Lockwood, Judy Meyer, Charlene Rehfeldt, Janet Siegel, Charlene Sorenson, Jane Speers, Cindy Tice.

Dr. Paul Misner To Be Guest Speaker At PTA Meeting Tuesday

In times like these, parents will be eager to hear such views as Dr. Paul J. Misner will express on "What Are the Values That Count?" That opportunity will come Tuesday, at 8:15 p.m. when Dr. Misner, who is superintendent of schools in Glencoe, will appear at the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

DR. MISNER

Dr. Misner, the youngest of ten children, was born in Otisville, Mich., and developed an early interest in democracy from the vantage point of the cracker barrel in his father's general store and furthered by the experiences of selling newspapers and working on farms and in factories during the formative years of his life.

As a typical product of the American way of life and one who believes profoundly in the future of our democratic institutions and traditions, Dr. Misner has met with nation-wide recognition for the high quality of democracy that has been achieved in the operation of the Glencoe schools under his leadership. The schools have pioneered in the fields of school and community relations, guidance, and more recently, in the adoption of a year-round program of teacher employment and service.

In addition to his success as a school administrator, Dr. Misner has taught and lectured in universities from Columbia to the University of Hawaii as well as writing not only for professional yearbooks and magazines but coauthoring the book "Democracy in School Administration."

The meeting will be opened by the presentation of the flag by the North school auxiliary girls. The business meeting following will include the presentation of the changes in the by-laws by Mrs. John Solon for discussion and approval, and a description of the new school additions to be ready for September 1954 by Robert Lockwood, president of the school board. The mothers of the Junior high sixth grade will act as hostesses for the social hour following the meeting.

Plan Women's Education Day At Arlington High

Plans are now being completed for a Women's Education Day at Arlington Heights high school, similar to the program presented last year.

Tours of the facilities and visits to classes will form the greater part of the program, with a question and answer period for visitors at the close of the program.

Dates have not been definitely established, but the program will probably be presented about the middle of February or a little later. Reservations will be required.

Bruno Waara, distributive education instructor, Eugene Oliver, counselor, and LeRoy J. Knoeppel, superintendent, make up the committee which is planning the program.

Lions Father-Son Night To Feature Program On Little League Teams

The Lions will hold a Father and Son night Tuesday, beginning with a dinner at 6:30 p.m., at St. Peter Lutheran activity building.

Guests of the evening will be Lloyd Taylor, president of the Arlington Heights Little League, and managers, players and members of the Little League, who have been invited to attend the program beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The program will be in charge of Don Unferth, assistant director of the Chicago White Cox Minor League system. He will show a movie depicting the operations of the Little League clubs and another movie of professional baseball farms, which will demonstrate actual training operations.

In addition to his professional baseball duties, Unferth is also the White Sox representative in Little League baseball. The White Sox assisted 55 Little Leagues in the Chicago area last year.

A native of Wisconsin, Unferth had a varied career as a high school coach, teacher, sports announcer and sports editor before fore entering pro baseball. Since joining the White Sox, Unferth has served as secretary of the Chicago Pitch and Hit club for two years.

To Install New Pastor Sunday

Rev. John Gerhard Meiners will be installed as pastor of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, Arlington Heights, January 17 at 7:30 p. m.

The preacher and head installing minister will be the new president of North Illinois Synod, Rev. Herbert P. Bloesch of Chicago. He will be assisted by Rev. Dean Plassman of Lake Zurich and Rev. Warren Seyfert of Franklin Park. Pastors Plassman and Seyfert were classmates of Pastor Meiners at Elmhurst college and Eden seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

The central cabinet of the Women's guild of the congregation is planning a reception for pastor and Mrs. Meiners and their two children, John and Ann Marie, in the church parlors after the service.

The public is invited.

Vail Street Merchants Say, 'Through Traffic Injures Our Business'

Businessmen with shops on the east side of Vail st. are extremely disappointed that the Arlington Heights village board has retained the one-way street experiment another sixty days. They have asked that their side of the story be told. Here it is:

"Through traffic" on Vail st. gives little opportunity for customers to park and enter those stores. Practically seventy per cent of traffic bound for the post office is forced to come down Vail st. to Campbell, often two abreast.

Motorists from the north and east side traveling south on Vail can only park on the west side of Vail where there are few parking spaces. The east side parking spots are twice as many, but can only be used by persons who come up Vail st. or from W. Campbell st.

Any person who does use Sigwalt and S. Vail to reach their places of business, is practically in a dead-end street. They must cross the railroad tracks before they can get to the Dunton, Davis or Campbell street stores.

They call it discrimination, saying all other southside stores in the business section can be conveniently reached from all sections of the village. They ask the amandonment of one-way streets which would place all business houses in the same position.

Quaker Oats Completes Deal For Barrington Laboratory Site

Quaker Oats Company has exercised its option to purchase 100 acres of land from Barrington Development Company for a laboratory site.

The tract fronts approximately 1,300 feet on W. Main st., lying on the south side of W. Main directly across from the high school.

Final action was taken when the village board unanimously passed an amendment to the zoning ordinance reclassifying part of the Quaker Oats tract from residential to light industrial.

Tryouts Tonight For Village Theatre's Children's Show

Tryouts for the annual children's show given by the Village Theatre of Arlington Heights will be held tonight, Thursday, at the field house, following the regular business meeting, which begins at 8 p. m.

This year's production will be the well known story of "Hansel and Gretel" and it will be presented in two performances at the high school February 21. Anyone wishing to try out is invited to the meeting, even if he is not a Village Theatre member. Young people of high school age are desired for some parts in the cast and they are extended a special invitation to the tryouts.

The play will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawley.

Des Plaines Runaway Back Home From Florida

Bruce Collins, the 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Proud, Scott st., Des Plaines, returned to his home following a two month trip to Florida.

Bruce left home one Friday night in November with the clothes on his back and about 30 cents. He hitchhiked his way to Florida selling some of his clothes along the way and when he got there worked in a lumber camp and out of the money he saved was able to come home by bus.

Pupils Now Registering For Washington Trip

The Arlington Heights high school tour of Washington and vicinity now has 16 advance registrations, Dolores Hudson, faculty sponsor, announced this week.

Registrations will be open until January 29, and as many as 50 students may make the trip. Registrations must be accompanied by a $10 deposit, which is refundable prior to March 1.

The six day tour will take students to Mount Vernon, Williamsburg, Charlottesville, Yorktown, Alexandria, and Anapolis, as well as to many points of interest in Washington.

Travel will be by rail on most of the trip, with short trips by bus, and one overnight trip on a steamer on Chesapeake Bay. The complete cost of the tour is $113.

Miss Hudson will chaperon the group, and another teacher may act as a second chaperon if the number of registrations warrants.

Miller To Go Before Grand Jury January 19

Arthur Miller, who shot and killed his wife and a customer in his tavern on Northwest hwy. and Palos rd., near Palatine, will go before the grand jury Jan. 19. The corner's jury has bound him over on two charges of murder.

Minor Accidents Main Items on Police Agenda

Several minor accidents took place in Arlington Heights last week, one of which caused slight injuries to a passenger.

The injured man was Bert Snyder of Palatine, who was riding in the auto of Russell L. Jessee, 61 N. Bothwell, Palatine, when it was struck by an auto driven by Ruth Reuter of 503 Grove st., Barrington.

The police report that Mrs. Reuter pulled out of the outer lane on Northwest highway, near Vail, to pass a stalled auto. In so doing she hit the right front fender of the Jessee auto.

A second accident took place at 900 N. State rd. Mrs. Alrene Forpe, 921 E. Olive, was stopped for a school bus which was unloading children at the Catholic school. An unidentified driver traveling behind her failed to stop for the bus and struck the rear of her car, damaging the gas tank and rear section. The driver stopped, looked at the damage to his car, and drove on, according to a report turned into the police by Mrs. Forpe. She said the car had a 1954 license number 497-963. Police are checking the number to learn the identity of the driver.

Fred Fulle, Des Plaines Publisher, Candidate For Cook County Board

Fred Fulle, Des Plaines publisher, who is also Republican committeeman of the populous Maine township, will be a candidate for Cook County Board of Commissioners from the country towns.

Possible candidates for the five positions have been withholding definite announcements until the screening committee issues its report: As the standard bearer for Northwest Cook county, comprising townships along the Wisconsin division of the Northwestern, further delay might deprive that area from direct representation on the county board.

"It is for that reason," Mr. Fulle stated Tuesday, "that my petitions are being circulated without further delay."

Many people of this area feel that the increasing population entitles it to a direct representative on the county board.

Two Persons Injured In Head-On Collision

Two persons were injured in a head-on collision on Northwest hwy. just west of the Central rd. intersection in Mount Prospect early Sunday morning.

Marvin Engelking, 17, 201 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, according to police records, crossed the center yellow line as he was traveling west on the highway and collided head-on with a car driven by Clifford Domin, 40, of Glenview.

Injured were Mrs. Adeline Domin, who suffered a compound fracture of one leg, and Janice Domin, 16, whose face and nose were cut. Both were removed by ambulance to St. Francis hospital in Evanston.

The accident occurred at 1:16 a.m.

Antiques, Furniture, China Ware To Go On Sale At Lutheran Home

Since the residents of the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged of Arlington Heights have moved into their new Home on Oakton st. they were unable to take along many items as, they would not fit in with their new surroundings.

In order to dispose of these articles, which include furniture, rummage, warm clothing, antiques, china ware and odds and ends of most everything, a private sale will be held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Hours are as follows: Friday—1 to 9 p. m.; Saturday—10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sunday—2 to 6 p. m.

It Is All In The Family, But Son Out-Guesses His Policeman Dad

Don Karstens, son of Lt. Elmer Karstens of Arlington Heights police force with his mother (or one of his pals) will enjoy a $1,000 vacation in Florida this coming spring. George Poole of George C. Poole, Inc. announced Tuesday that Don had come the nearest to guessing how many parts are in the new Ford engine.

Mrs. Karstens says that her husband had spent four hours down in the basement figuring out how many parts there really is in the engine. Don just made a guess and hit it on the head.

120 Ford dealers in the Chicago metropolitan area gave similar prizes. The guesses were deposited at the recent open house of the new car.

To Hold Rally For Captains Working On March Of Dimes

Mrs. Melvin Kurtz, Arlington Heights chairman for the annual March of Dimes campaign, has announced there will be a captain's rally Monday, at the field house at 8 p. m.

A sound movie starring Helen Hayes will be one of the highlights of the rally and all captains are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

January 25 there will be a meeting of captains and block workers at the field house at 8 p. m. There will be a guest speaker and refreshments will be served.

This year's goal for Arlington Heights is $10,000. Last year the village contributed nearly $8,000 through store collections, school collections, and the Mothers' March.

The Mothers' March has been set for January 27. Full details will be published next week.

Leo Plumhofff Injured In Grant Park Accident

Leo Plumhoff, 28, Forest Lake, formerly of Palatine, is in St. Luke's hospital, Chicago. For some unexplained reason he lost control of his car at Jackson and Michigan ave. The auto jumped the curb and rode over shrubbery until it hit the Illinois Central retaining wall.

Leo was taken to St. Luke's hospital, evidently severely hurt. As soon as his condition permits x-rays will be taken. He is the son of Mr. Plumhoff, 238 N. Benton. The injured man is the father of two children.

Notice of Special Election

School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois.

NOTICE is hereby given that on Saturday, the 30th day of January, 1954, a special election will be held in and for School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of voting upon the following propositions:

1. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, build an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes, said school building being located on Park street and near the intersection of Mitchell Street, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, and being commonly known as the "New South School Building?"

2. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, issue bonds of said School District to the amount of $205,000, for the purpose of building an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes, said school building being located on Park Street and near the intersection of Mitchell Street, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, and being commonly known as the "New South School Building," said bonds to become due $5,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1955 and 1956, $10,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1957 to 1960, inclusive, $5,000 on December 1, 1961, $10,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1962 to 1967, inclusive, and $15,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1968 to 1973, inclusive, and to bear interest at the rate of not to exceed four per cent (4%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1955 and semi-annually thereafter?

3. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, build an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes and commonly known as the "Ridge School Building?"

4. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, issue bonds of said School District to the amount of $150,000, for the purpose of building an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes and commonly known as the "Ridge School Building," said bonds to become due $5,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1957 to 1960, inclusive, and $10,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1961 to 1973, inclusive, and to bear interest at the rate of not to exceed four per cent (4%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1955 and semi-annually thereafter?

5. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, build an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes, said school building being located on South Street at its intersection with Chestnut Street, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, and being commonly known as the "South School Building?"

6. Shall the Board of Education of School District Number 25, Cook County, Illinois, issue bonds of said School District to the amount of $55,000, for the purpose of building an addition to the present school building now owned and used by said District for school purposes, said school building being located on South Street at its intersection with Chestnut Street, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, and being commonly known as the "South School Building," said bonds to become due $5,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1957 to 1967, inclusive, and to bear interest at the rate of not to exceed four per cent (4%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1955, and semi-annually thereafter?

That for the purpose of said election said School District has been divided into two election precincts, the boundaries of each election precinct and the polling place designated within each election precinct being as follows:

Presbyterians To Hold Two Sunday Services

There are now two services of worship each Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian church at Arlington Heights, one at 9:30 and the other at 11 o'clock They are identical with the exception that the High School choir sings at the 9:30 service and the Adult choir at the 11 o'clock service.

This is made possible by the new sanctuary which is separate from the remainder of the building. The two services are provided for two reasons. One is that it will be of much greater convenience for families to be able to attend while their children are in church school. Church school classes are provided at both 9:30 and 11 for nursery through the junior department. Junior high, seventh and eighth grades, will meet at 9:30 only and senior high school age, at 11 o'clock only.

The second reason is that the total attendance at the two services is larger han the new sanctuary could comfortably hold at one service.

Book Review Club To Meet Monday

The Third Monday Evening Book Review club will meet January 18 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Baker, 19 N. Pine, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. E. J. Harris will be the reviewer. She will review Pearl Buck's latest novel, "Come My Beloved," which takes place in India.

In good usage, "each other" applies to two only. "One another" applies to more than two. "The twins resemble each other." "The students competed with one another."

Northwest Heighters Activities

Benefit Dance

The Chicago Maternity Center will hold a cocktail dance February 7 at the Barrington country club, from 5 to 8 p.m. Tickets are available through Mrs. Charles Cronin, CL 3-3263, Mrs. William Kelly, CL 3-9326, Mrs. Leo Bell, CL 3-5718.

Neighborhood Doings

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. James Loughman on the recent death of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Croke of Chicago who was 83 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clore and their sons, Larry and Paul, are enjoying the warm Florida sunshine, where they are visiting relatives in Daytona Beach.

Mrs. Richard DeZur was hostess to her bridge club Monday night and her guests were Mrs. John Coward, Mrs. James Baker, Mrs. Kenneth Kirchner of Arlington and Mrs. Joseph Vavra, Mrs. O. H. Chanute, Mrs. Marshall Pheroux and Mrs. H. D. Spruance of Mount Prospect.

A family dinner was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Giorgi Jr. Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spee and their daughter, Charlene, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Spee and Mrs. Martha Spee.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willging will be Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Conlon of Dubuque, Iowa, who will attend the Home Furnishing show at the Merchandise Mart.

Mrs. Dean Currier and her daughter, Alice Jean, were cohostesses to 16 guests at a baby shower given in their home this past week for Mrs. Donald Russell. The party decorations were done in pink and white and special guests included Mrs. Russell's mother and sister, Mrs John Fogarty and Dorothy of Chicago.

Happy birthday to Michael Duch who will celebrate his seventh birthday with his family Monday.

Judith Ahlmdale will entertain some neighbor friends for ice cream and cake Saturday afternoon in celebration of her fourth birthday.

When it comes to Protection ...it pays to have the BEST

Adequate rain gear can keep you from getting soaked — but it's no good unless you have it with you when the heavens open.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

CIRCLING THE TOWN
BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Lady bowlers of the area served by Paddock Publications will have their tournament at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine. Nineteen teams have entered this inter-league handicap tournament.

Six trophies and team and individual prizes totaling $270 will be awarded to the most expert.

Tournament teams are the first-place squads in leagues in Paddock territory. They bowl in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Wheeling, Wood Dale and Bensenville.

Bowling is probably the most popular sport of the winter season—certainly among sports drawing more participants than spectators — and interest runs high in this tournament, already a tradition with this but the second season of competition.

Sounds Like Fun

Last week's item regarding the Mr. and Mrs. Club of the Presbyterian church and their "Beat the Clock" entertainment at last Friday's meeting was intriguing to say the least.

Jack McComb, master of ceremonies, would award — so the story read — a refrigerator, vacuum cleaner and other appliances to the winners. Whether these were models circa 1820, broken down beyond repair or merely pictures or dummies was open to speculation.

Anyway, our bet is those club members, satisfied after an ample dinner, mightly enjoyed their hilarious program.

Another Milestone

With the opening of their new sanctuary late in December more Sunday school space has become available, and starting next week the church school will operate on a double shift.

There wil be two complete sessions, except for the Junior high department which will meet only at 9:30 and the Senior high only at 11 a.m. There have been two church services ever since the dedication of the new sanctuary.

Current registration in the Sunday school—fourth largest Presbyterian church school in the Chicago area—numbers about 750 children.

Area Music

Those interested in prmoting good music in the suburban area will want to hear the winter concert of the Northwest Symphony orchestra January 24 at the new auditorium of Maine high school.

Several members of the orchestra, which is under the direction of Perry Crafton, are from Arlington Heights and surrounding towns. Tickets may be obtained in advance from members or at the door the night of the concert.

Austrian Teacher Guest At Jaycee Meeting· Give Award to Woman's Club

Local Jaycees, their wives and invited guests attended a meeting Tuesday evening which offered several rather special events.

The major portion of the meeting was a talk given by Miss Katherina Hammer, Austrian exchange teacher, who is briefly serving on the staff of the Arlington Heights high school. Miss Hammer, a native of Austria, is a teacher in the Women's Vocational school in Bad Ischel, Upper Austria. She has a Ph. D. from the University of Vienna, has an excellent command of the English language and spoke on the topic of "The Political and Economic Conditions in Austria Since World War II and Their Effect on Education." Following the talk and a question period, refreshments were served and those present had an opportunity to become better acquainted with this interesting and unusual young lady.

The meeting was further highlighted by the presentation of a special certificate of appreciation to the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club in recognition of its very generous financial contribution to the Jaycees in their campaign for funds to initiate a hospital project. The presentation was made by Jaycee president Ted Seiler to Mrs. Bernard Cahill, president of the Junior Woman's club.

Bruno Waara, past-president of the Jaycee chapter, was also presented with a special pin in appreciation for his two years of vigorous leadership.

Presbyterian Sunday School Begins Double Sessions This Sunday

The growth of the Church school of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights during the past several years has required the installation of a program to adapt the facilities to the rapid increase in enrollments.

In 1949 the enrollment of pupils in the school was 350. In 1950 it was 408; in 1951, 509, and in 1952, 665. 1953 exhibited the largest increase of pupils, with a growth over the previous year of 130. The record attendance of the year was 655.

As in every other year, the 49 classes and seven departments of the 1953 church school met at the traditional hour of 9:30 a.m. Sunday. But, two sessions of church school are now being instituted in order to permit better use of the physical plant, and to add to the convenience of parents attending one of the two Sunday services.

The double sessions, which begin January 17, will meet at 9:30 and 11 a.m. respectively each Sunday. The nursery, kindergarten, primary and junior departments will each offer sessions at both hours.

In most respects the two sessions of these departments will be identical. Each will use the faith and life curriculum of the Presbyterian church; each will study concurrently the theme of this curriculum material, which this year is, "The Christian Church."

Enrollments for the two sessions have been received during the fall and winter months, and have shown about a 2 to 1 preference for the earlier hour, It is expected, however, that the 11 a.m. session will grow in popularity because of less crowded teaching facilities.

While duplicate sessions of church school will be offered in the children's department, the junior high and senior high school departments will meet only at 9:30 and 11 respectively. The adult Beran class will continue to meet only at 9:30.

For children below age 3 a prenursery will be offered during both hours. An additional convenience is the "cry-room" in the nave of the new building where parents with babies-in-arms may watch and hear the Church service without fear of disturbing the congregation.

Children may still be enrolled with either session.

The church school program is being directed by the following department superintendents: Mrs. Robert Hutchings, 9:30, nursery; Mrs. Marion DenBeste, 11 nursry; Mrs. Jack Schuler, 9:30, kindergarten; Mrs. Robert Bradle, 11 kindergarten; Mrs. Charles Stewart, 9:30 primary; Mrs. Robert Hawley, 11 primary; Mrs. David Zimmerman, 9:30, junior; Ivan Quackenbush, 11, junior: Lawrence Smith, junior high and senior high departments.

Completes 41 Years With North Western

William J. Hefferen celebrated his forty-first year with the Chicago North Western R.R. Jan. 10.

Mr. Hefferen started his career with the railroad in 1913 at the Arlington Heights depot where he worked as cashier for a year and since then has been at the Ravenswood depot for the past forty years.

Bill was born in Arlington Heights. He lives with his wife, Clara, at 110 S. Highland, and has one son, Clinton, a police officer at Winnetka, and one granddson, James C. Hefferen.

Plan Commission Reports On One-Way Street Program

The Arlington Heights planning commission, which is studying the one-way street and parking problems in the business district, submitted the following report to the village board last week Tuesday:

It will be recalled that the present system of one-way traffic was put into effect on October 20, 1953. It was contemplated that the program be carefully studied and observed by police and fire officials, the plan commission and all persons generally, and that at the end of the 60 day period the results of these observations and studies be analyzed to determine proper future action.

Pursuant to this, the plan commission held a public hearing at the Village Hall on Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1953, at 8 p.m. Written notices of the meeting were mailed to all known organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, fraternal organizations, property owners associations, church groups and professional groups. The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce stated that he had mailed a notice of the meeting to all members of that organization. Notice was also published in the Arlington Heights Herald. The purpose of the hearing was to receive the official reports and to get from any and all individual citizens or groups any factual material and opinions concerning the workings of the one-way traffic system, its effectiveness and desirability or its shortcomings and means to improve the system.

The meeting was well attended, the attendance filling all available seats and most of the standing room.

The Arlington Heights Police Department gave its official report which was presented by Chief Carl H. Skoog. This report is attached hereto. The police report stated that the observations of the police department indicated that the one-way system has made an increase in parking spaces, has lessened traffic congestion, has reduced the number of vehicles seeking parking spaces, has facilitated the movement of traffic and has reduced accidents and promoted safety. Chief Skoog stated at the hearing that consideration should be given to the extension of the one-way street system to the business area located on the north side of the town. The police recommend that the program be continued.

The Arlington Heights Fire Department did not submit a written report of its observation but in a conversation with Chief Winkleman he stated that the fire department had no objection to the one-way street program from the point of view of the functions of the fire department.

Recognizing the obvious interest of the businessmen and merchants in the matter, a pointed effort was made by the commission to hear the testimony and opinion of the local merchants. By a show of hands it was indicated that there were 17 persons who were local business operators, or employees or were representing a local business enterprise. Not all voiced an opinion. Among the businessmen, opinion was divided as to the desirability of the one-way street program.

Expressing opposition, a representative of the local bank stated that the bank found the program undesirable to the extent that it prohibits parking at the curbs immediately adjacent to the bank; a retail store operator stated that the program adversely affected his business and, in his opinion, created confusion and congestion in certain locations. Another retailer stated that some customers, particularly those from out of town, found the street program confusing and indicated they would not continue to shop here. A Fourth retailer stated that his customers found the program confusing and one businessman objected to a one-way traffic system since, in his opinion, it would hinder a program for widening of streets.

Other local businessmen expressed opinion favoring the one-way street system. One merchant testified that he found that the program improved and facilitated the movement of vehicular traffic and made travel easier and eased the parking problem. Another retailer stated that he asked his customers for their opinion and only one was opposed. He favored the one-way system. Another businessman stated that he found the program working well and favored its continuance.

Some citizens speaking as individuals expressed their opinions; one stated that the system was confusing and complained that it took longer to go from point to point. Four persons expressing their own opinions favored the system as an improvement. Two ladies lauded the system stating that it had increased the pedestrian safety factor. Two citizens submitted letters, one stating the one-way program was a good start but not conclusive of the problem; the other, an accident prevention expert, stating the system should be continued for further study.

Representatives of the various property owners associations expressed the opinions of their associations. Favoring continuation of the program were Eastwood Association, Scarsdale Association, Stonegate Association, Terrace Owners- Association. The Laurinwood Association reported that opinion of its members was divided. The Kiwanis Club reported in favor of one-way streets.

IN ADDITION to the testimony and opinions concerning the continuation of the one-way street program, there were presented by the persons attending many suggestions for improvement of the one-way program and suggestions for other solutions to the overall traffic and parking problem. These included:

Creation of off street parking areas with suggestions to purchase and finance parking lots, and to utilize park area adjacent to railroad.

A street widening program.

Consideration of parking meters on the streets and in parking lots.

Extension of the one-way street area.

Elimination of on street parking and use of off street parking lots.

THE COMMISSION appreciates the cooperation of those who attended the meeting and expressed their opinions and ideas. The suggestions made will be carefully studied to the end that an adequate and equitable solution can be achieved.

The plan commission is acutely aware of the fact that the present one-way traffic system may cause inconvenience and possibly hardship in some cases. We believe, however, that the solution to this problem should be predicated on what is best for the general welfare and convenience. Based upon the observations and reports of the officials of the fire and police departments, the evidence adduced at the public hearing and the observations of the plan commission members, it is our opinion that the one-way street program has been beneficial and has been accepted as desirable by the people of Arlington Heights. We feel that evidence of serious inconvenience to any person or persons is slight and not compelling; that original confusion has largely vanished as familiarity with the system has increased. It is our opinion that the evidence clearly is unquestionable in favor of the continuation of the program and we respectfully so recommend to the Village Board of Trustees.

Heights Students Attend Student Congress of Forensic League

Bern Schnyder and Lorraine Kamps represented Arlington Heights at the District Student Congress of the National Forensic League held at New Trier high school last Saturday. Over 50 high school students from 11 schools were present.

Miss Kamps was appointed clerk of the house of representatives and Schnyder served as chairman of the foreign affairs committee.

Plans were made for a full student congress, to include sessions of both a senate and a house of representatives, to be held next April.

The National Forensic League is an organization of students and adults working in competitive speech activities. Students earn points toward various degrees of honor and distinction by competing in speech contests and debates. Representation in the student congresses is based on the number of degrees held by each chapter.

Now is the time to plan that Spring and Summer garden! When the evenings are long, that is the time to sit down and outline that new garden plot, or revise the present gardening site. To assist you in approaching this fascinating project, your local library has placed on its shelves the following new book on gardening:

"Bulbs for Beauty," by Charles H. Mueller. Answers to—how deep to plant, how far apart to space, when to move and how to divide.

"Color in the Garden," by Norman Taylor. Nothing like this book has been available before for the garden planner. It is a garden tool to be used and treasured in solving many a riddle of design and wanted effect.

"The Permanent Garden," by Norman Taylor. Many illustrations help you fit the right materials into your own particular problem.

"HOW TO PLANT Your Home Ground," by Henry B. Aul. You don't have to be a botanical expert to get beautiful effects in your garden. You will find your favorite plants here, laid out to show their individual charms to the best advantage.

"How to Beautify and Improve Your Home Ground," by Henry B. Aul. Hundreds of garden and home ground ideas, all illustrated in concise, non-technical language.

"The Complete Book of Garden Magic," by Roy E. Biles. This book will help you enjoy to the fullest the thrills of successful gardening. Whichever type of gardening you like, this book will help you do it more successfully, more enjoyably.

In addition to these new books many old favorites are also available.

PEOPLE ASK:
"What can we say?"

A formal phrase of sympathy to a friend who has just lost a loved one is not so important. It's the warmth of the handclasp and the understanding smile that go with the words of sympathy that really reach the heart and bring comfort. The fact that you care enough to call and pay your respects is what really counts. Know that it's your presence and not what you say that will be remembered.

Tennis Tournament At Chicago Arena

Chicago's first annual $10,000 professional championship tennis tournament, will be staged at the Chicago Arena, 630 N. McClurg Ct., on Friday and Saturday nights in cooperation with the Chicago tennis patrons.

Participating will be such great champions as Pancho Gonzales, Pancho Segura, Frank Sedgman and Don Budge, with the possibility of Kramer inserting himself into the competition.

First place in the singles will be worth $4,000. Second, third and fourth places in the singles and the doubles match scheduled each of the two nights will divide the balance of the prize money.

Obedience Trials At Winnetka January 31

The 14th annual A.K.C. licensed obedience trial sponsored by the North Shore dog training club, of Winnetka, will be held Sunday, Jan. 31, at Rainbo Arena, 4836 N. Clark st., Chicago, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The obedience show will have an entry of nearly 200 dogs, representing virtually every breed, coming from all parts of the middle west.

Entries close at midnight January 17, and should be mailed to Mrs. Christine V. Kumbera, P.O. Box 806, Evanston, phone CO 7-7425.

Grayslake Downs Maryville, 63-61

Grayslake took a 34-32 lead at the half and held their margin in an evenly played game to beat Maryville Saturday night in Des Plaines 63-61. Bill Nagle scored 19 for Maryville while Jay Hook and Wally Giernoth had 15 and Kreisal 13 for the Grayslake Rams.

Grayslake won the preliminary frosh-soph game 36-35.

Jazz At Rainbow Saturday Night

Regular Saturday night "Jazz At Rainbo," Clark and Lawrence, continues January 16 with Duke Ellington and his world famous orchestra. Jazz followers and music lovers alike will thrill at the tempos, compositions and arrangements of this great maestro and composer.

Featured with Duke Ellington are Ray Nance, Jimmy Grissom, and trumpet take-off man, "Cat" Anderson.

The exciting, unrehearsed jam session with top Chicago horns continues as a weekly attraction. Jay Trompeter, WIND disc jockey will M.C.

Ski Jump At Cary Sunday

The 48th annual ski jumping tournament of the Norge ski club will be held at Fox River Grove Sunday, Jan. 17.

The first jumper will go down the 115-foot slide and hurtle into space in quest of a new hill record at 1:30 p.m.

Competition among more than 100 jumpers in classes A, B, C and the senior division will go on continuously for more than two and one-half hours thereafter.

HILL RECORD is 208 feet and is held by Arthur Tokle, one of the favorites in Sunday's competition. He wears the Norge Club colors and victory would make him the first member of the home club to take the title in the country's oldest meet.

The American team chosen January 3 at Lake Placid, N.Y., to represent this country in the world championships in Sweden next month will compete.

In addition to Tokle, who finished second in the trial tourney, the Yank team includes Arthur Devlin, trials winner; Keith Wegeman; Willis Olson; Crosby Perry Smith and Marvin Crawford, American four-event champ.

THE HUGE snow-making machine that pulverizes tons of ice and sprays it over the surface of the hill will be in use again to assure a show regardless of weather conditions.

John Rissness, Norwegian exchange student now attending Dartmouth University, will return to Fox River Grove to defend the championship he won last year.

He jumped 197 feet in that meet, but it appears he must improve on that distance if he is to repeat. Devlin, the "Flying Irishman" who won two Norge titles, is a big favorite among Chicago ski fans. He has won two tournaments in the east and, with Tokle, will give the U.S. strong representation.

Oak Park Federal Open House Fete Extended 2 Days

A two days' extension has been announced for the "Open Savings and Loan Association in House" of the Oak Park Federal its new home at 1001 Lake st., Oak Park, by John P. Domeier, president.

"Thera has been such tremendous interest in our new home, and such large crowds, that we want to give everyone a chance to participate in Coins-in-the-Bowl Guessing Contest," Mr. Domeimar said. "We don't want our friends to miss out.

"From the plaudits and well wishes of the crowds and from the splendid influx of savings, it is obvious that the need for a modern, up-to-date thrift and home finanoing association has certainly been mat by the erection of our new, beautiful quarters, adjoined by a convenient customers' parking lot."

Announcement of the extension is made in large advertisement on the back page of this newspaper, which also tells of the many daily prizes and the "Pony for Your Thoughts" contest for boys and girls.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

"Joshua fit de battle ob Jericho,
And de walls come a-tumblin' down."

So run the words of the spiritual. In the past year or so, the walls of Jericho have been subjected to extremely close scrutiny by members of the staff of the American Society of Oriental Research who are stationed at the Jerusalem branch of the American School of Oriental Research.

During the Christmas holidays, I attended a meeting of the A. S. O. R. with some friends who were in town for the joint meeting of that society and the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. They sound pretty learned, and some of them are. Most of the members are teachers of religion and biblical language and literature in colleges and seminaries.

HOWEVER, one of the most recent institutions to join in sharing the program and purposes of the A. S. O. R. is the Arabian-American Oil Co.

Jericho is one of the oldest of civilized cities. The walls of Jericho have seen many cultural changes, many transitions of power and influence. At one point, in the transverse section of the most recent excavations, there was a juncture of three walls; this point is dated approximately 5100-4500 B. C.

The excavators have been able to discover that this point of juncture of three walls actually no less than seventeen different walls, wall repairs of walls rebuilt, all within the same general time period.

At the present time, there has been no indication of the collapse of the walls of Jericho in the time of Joshua (about 1900 B. C.) Of course, the whole of the old city has not yet been excavated. Some years ago, an expedition under Garstang made a transverse section. The latest expedition has widened the Garstang trench and made a new "great section."

THE "GREAT SECTION" is a trench about sixteen feet wide, running from the outer edge toward the center of the site. Obviously, this does not uncover a large portion of the site. It does give observers an opportunity to compare the strata of cultures, to recognize dates and some events.

The work is also somewhat hampered by the fact that there is an Arabian burial ground located on portions of the site. Any bodies must be carefully moved and reburied in an appropriate place, and only after measures have been taken to appease and placate the Arabians who live in the area and still use the burial grounds.

IT IS A LONG process by which the results of an archeological expedition become known to the general public which may be interested in knowing about these things. Pictures of 1952 excavations were first shown to the A. S. O. R. members at the 1953 meeting (during Christmas week). Articles in professional journals may be appearing in 1954. Articles in the general religious publications may not appear with any conclusions and pictures until 1956 or 1957.

If there is material that might contribute to a new book on the subject of Jericho, it may be as late as 1960 before that appears. But the study of the ancient world goes on—even as other men try to push back the veil of the future, so interested persons attempt to uncover the past.

Words Often Misused

Avoid the use of "already" and "yet" when the auxiliary of the verb is "did." Do not say, "Did you finish the work already," or, "Did you finish the work yet?" Omit "already" and "yet."

Do not say, "They will comply to our wishes." Say, "comply with our wishes."

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—My kitchen linoleum has several cracks along the edge. How can these be repaired before little pieces break off?

A—Get some canvas or other stiff cloth and cut a patch for each cracked area. Make the patches large enough to extend from the edge of the linoleum several inches beyond the crack. Coat the cloth with linoleum paste and place it beneath the linoleum. Put weights on top of the patched spot until the paste has dried.

Q—I HAVE a two-story house, but I've been told that water stains on my living room wall might come from a leaky roof. Is that possible?

A—Yes. Water is very tricky. It can enter through a leak in the roof and work its way unseen down through the walls, finally appearing so far from the point of entry that the real cause is not suspected. It would be wise to have your roof examined closely. If a leaky roof is old and weathered, patching is not advisable. Re-roofing is the only sensible course. Asphalt shingles usually can be applied on top of the old material for a watertight, economical job.

Q—How can stains be removed from metal ash trays?

A. Denatured alcohol will remove tobacco stains from brass or copper ash trays. Brisk scrubbing with a brush is needed.

Q—Is there any way to figure the quantity of paint needed for a radiator?

A—Multiply the length in feet by the height, then multiply this number by seven. This will give the number of square feet to be painted.

Q. Soap and water will remove surface dirt from my wallpaper but has little effect on some grease stains and crayon marks. How can I take these off?

A—A paste made of fuller's earth and benzine will take off grease spots. Apply the paste about a quarter of an inch thick and let it stand until it dries, then brush it off. Washing with detergent suds, instead of soap, may remove the crayon; if not, the fuller's earth treatment will. When washing wallpaper, be careful not to scrub so hard that you tear the paper, which softens when it is wet.

See Increase In Farm Sales

An upturn in market activity for farms is expected this year by experienced farm brokers, the national association of real estate boards said.

A slowed movement in farm transactions, along with softening of farm prices in some areas, during the last six months is seen by NAREB as the harvest of a "wait and see" attitude on the part of farm buyers following a change of administration in Washington.

Offerings of good farms are in short supply, and buyers seeking top quality land are reported as unwilling to pay former prices.

PRICES of full-time farms are listed as lower than six months ago by more than half of the real estate boards. The rate of transfers is slower than six months ago, according to 59 per cent of the boards, but 36 per cent listed it as the same. It is higher in 5 per cent of the communities.

City dwellers desiring a small part-time farm near urban areas will find prices during the next six months at the current level, according to predictions from 55 per cent of the reporting areas. Lower price tags is the outlook in 39 per cent of the regions, however, and 6 per cent look for higher prices.

Current prices for small plots for part-time farms are the same as they were six months ago in 54 per cent of the communities, but 37 per cent noted some lowering. Only 9 per cent reported higher figures.

Check The Attic For Condensation

Check your attic to see whether you have a moisture condensation problem. You can expect trouble if your farmhouse ceiling is insulated but doesn't have a vapor barrier, and if the attic isn't ventilated.

Keith Hinchcliff, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois, says moisture tends to condense in the insulation and will reduce its effectiveness. In addition, it can cause the wood to decay.

The best time to check for this trouble is on a cold day when there's a lot of moisture in the house. Wash day is usually the best time.

IF YOU FIND condensed frost on the roof sheathing and rafters, take steps to correct the situation.

Hinschcliff recommends putting slanted louvers in the gable ends or screened vents under the eaves. There should be one square inch of opening for each square foot of attic floor area.

The purpose of these openings is to get circulation of air in the attic that will carry out the moisture.

If there is no vapor barrier under the ceiling insulation, Hinchcliff says painting the ceiling with a waterproof paint will help.

New Post Office

Glenview postmaster Charles J. Ginaine has announced plans for a new post office have been approved by Ormande A. Kieb, assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C., as well as by the Glenview post office department.

The property at 1913 Prairie ave., next to the Illinois Bell Telephone company and across from the village hall, has been leased and the building to be constructed thereon will be rented to the Glenview post office department. It will contain about 4752 square feet and will have a loading dock in the rear.

Long Grove church addition was dedicated Sunday, January 10, in special services that included an organ concert, choral renditions, and Dr. Henry Dinkmeyer, president of Elmhurst college.

About Your Health

Actually a symptom and not a disease in itself, jaundice is said to be present when the skin, the sclera or white part of the eye, and the mucous membrances of the mouth appear to have a stained yellow color. When jaundice is present, some impairment in the function of the liver can be suspected.

One of the largest single organs in the human body, and weighing normally from three to four pounds, the liver has many important functions in maintaining good health. It develops bile; it stores sugar and, on the body's demands, releases it under a form called glycogen; it breaks down poisons coming from various parts of the body and helps eliminate foreign substances from the blood. One important function of the liver is the ability to regenerate, once it has been damaged.

WHEN ELIMINATION of the bile through the bile ducts is interrupted or when the liver fails to carry out its role in the process normally, excessive amounts of bile enter the blood stream. Jaundice results. Tumors, hardening of the liver and abscesses or enlarged glands may cause an obstruction in the normal activity of the liver and bile ducts.

Jaundice also develops too when some condition exists to bring about excessive destruction of the red blood cells. This action produces a prolific amount of bilirubin, which is the pigment causing the yellow discoloration.

THE CONTITION may also occur when some form of poisoning affects the liver. This may happen in persons who have been exposed for a long period of time to poisonous chemicals found in such materials as cleaning fluids, paint removers and insecticides. In some instances, the intake of a large amount of alcohol within a short time may be responsible.

There are types of jaundice which involve viruses. One, called infectious or epidemic hepatitis, seems to be caused by a virus which is transmitted like the common cold from person to person, or through infected water or milk supply. Another form, homologous serum hepatitis, is caused by a virus which enters the body through an injection with a needle, such as might happen in blood transfusions. Jaundice is also associated with disease of the gallbladder. It also develops in persons who have cirrhosis or hardening of the liver from insufficient intake of proper food with or without the additional use of excessive amounts of alcohol.

Homeowners Urged To Make Room For The New Teenagers

Make room for the teen-ager. . . There were 5.7 million high school students in 1950. There are 6.4 million now. By 1960, there will be 8.5 million.

If you have two or three years yet before your son or daughter will start wanting to bring the crowd home for snacks, dancing, games and television, that's none too much time to get your house organized space-wise.

Some ways to evaluate your space planning are suggested by the National Lumber Manufacturers Association:

DETERMINE NOW whether your present home will be adequate, with or without remodeling; whether you may be better off to buy another house, perhaps older and larger, and remodel it to suit your family's needs; or, whether you can reasonably expect to afford a house that is both new and so designed that it will meet "growing up" requirements.

Without such planning, you may find that by the time you get around to adding an extra room or fixing up the basement, the rest of the house will be badly in need of redecoration. By organizing your work, you can spread out the projects and the expense in manageable "pay as you go" operations.

WHILE BASEMENT recreation rooms or added-on rooms are desirable wherever possible to give the younger set a place of their own, there are many homes where existing rooms can be converted to teen entertainment without too much strain on the rest of the house, the family, or the pocketbook.

Here is a plan which one family followed that solved teen space and many redecoration problems in one operation:

The dining room and a rear porch adjoining it were converted to informal living use. The porch was enclosed, with wood awning windows along its length and cabinets at each end. One of the cabinets housed the television set. Wooden outdoor-type furniture of modern design was used. This enclosed porch became the television room.

DINING ROOM was paneled in wood, for good looking decorative effect and to eliminate future redecoration expense. Wood cabinets for radio and phonograph and storage space were built in one corner. A larger window was installed between dining room and porch to make the dining room more cheerful and to give unity to the two areas.

Roofing Suits Low Slope

When heavy roll roofing is desired for a low-slope roof, 19-inch selvage, double coverage asphalt roll roofing is recommended.

This comes in 36-inch-wide sheets. As the name indicates, 19 inches of the width is lapped by the next sheet, covering the full roof with at least two layers of material. A roof with a pitch as low as 1 inch per foot can be roofed with 19-inch selvage roofing.

Up City Budget For Des Plaines

An increase in excess of $65,000 over last year's appropriation was approved by Des Plaines council. The 1954 appropriation totals $785,037.07. The increase is due mostly to about five per cent hike in salaries of city employees.

Though Mayor Meyer feels there is a need for an assistant to the mayor, he broke a tie vote which struck the $5,000 item from the appropriation. Ald. Genter Dahl (6th) said "we don't have to spend it" but if a committee which will study the possibility of an assistant reports favorably, then the money would be available. The 14 aldermen split on the issue.

Heating New Additions To Home Is Easy With Hot Water, Convectors

When remodeling plans for older homes call for the addition of a room or two, efficient heating of the new areas can be provided at a minimum of expense if the house has a hot water system.

All that is required is to extend run-outs off the mains to convector heating units installed in the new rooms.

In such projects it is wisest to modernize the heat distribution system throughout the entire house, however. Old cast iron radiators can be replaced with convectors by changing only the run-outs to the mains and adding a pump to provide forced circulation of hot water.

Edwards Motors of Wheeling will display medium priced Packard Clippers January 15. The Clippers will be made in three lines, all new in design, with a super series added to the present deluxe and special lines. Highlights of these cars priced in the $2500 range will be new advanced body styling to give the cars a more youthful appearance and specially designed fashion interiors for women.

The upper price luxury Packards in four production and four custom-built models will have new engines with 212 horsepower, and for the first time the Packard Ultramatic no-shift transmission will become standard equipment at no extra cost. Another innovation is the addition of tubeless tires as optional equipment. The Clipper hardtop sedan above is a new body type. Primary feature of the new Packard engine is the 25 per cent increase in "usable power" available to the driver for passing and acceleration in the critical driving range of 40 to 70 miles per hour.

Maine Opens Indoor Practice For Track

Six returning lettermen are practicing in Maine's new fieldhouse two hours each school night with twenty-seven other boys out for indoor varsity track. Since December 1, former 'M' track winners Jerry Stromberg, hurdles; Dick Linden and Lowell Gratigny, mile; Ralph Gumbinger and Jim Anderson, sprint, and Len Soderstrom, shotput, have been carrying the Demons' hopes for the coming season which opens January 21.

Donna Black Is Bride Of Donald Richmeier

St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, was the scene January 2 of the marriage of Miss Donna Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black of Fox River Grove and Donald Richmeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Richmeier, 402 N. Chestnut ave., Arlington Heights.

Rev. Robert Reicher officiated at the 10:30 a. m. ceremony. Sister Amabilia was the organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white knit suit and a white headpiece trimmed with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Mrs. Donald Black, of Chicago, aunt of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a navy blue taffeta ensemble and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Vernon Richmeier, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a bridal dinner was served at Bersal's Dining room in Des Plaines to members of the immediate families and the bridal party.

The young couple honeymooned in Wisconsin for a week. The groom will leave for Camp Le Jeune, N. C., soon to complete 11 more months service with the marines. The new Mrs. Richmeier will remain in Fox River Grove temporarily.

Alumnae Clubs Meet

Delta Zeta

Mrs. Dean Currier, well-known book reviewer, will review the book, "Maude Martha," by Gwendolyn Brooks at the annual joint town meeting of the Delta Zeta Alumnae of the Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Des Plaines and Barrington area January 19 at 8 p.m. at her home at 933 Patton, Arlington Heights.

Her program will also include short commentaries on "Not As A Stranger" by Morton Thompson, "Lord Vanity" by Samuel Shellabarger, and "Sexual Behavious in the Human Female" by Kinsey.

The town chairmen who will also be hostesses for the evening are Mrs. John O. Enander of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Dudley W. Day of Prospect Heights, chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect area, Mrs. Walter Imig of Des Plaines, and Miss Nadine Duerwatcher of Barrington, chairman of the Barrington, Crystal Lake, and Grayslake area.

The chapter of Delta Zeta at Northwestern university will officially adopt Mrs. Currier January 26.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae in the northwest suburban area will meet at the home of Mrs. Donald Richard, Inverway rd., Inverness, January 21 at 1:30 p.m.

All members are urged to attend since the new project for the children at Illinois Surgical Institute will be started.

For further information call Palatine 1580-J-2.

Delta Delta Delta

The Chicago Northwest Suburban Alliance of Delta Delta Delta will meet January 24 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bruce Mateer, 320 S. Knight, Park Ridge.

Mrs. Tom Beals will present a book review. New members interested in attending are asked to contact Mrs. Louis Langpop at Clearbrook 3-1247.

Maternity Center Plans Benefit

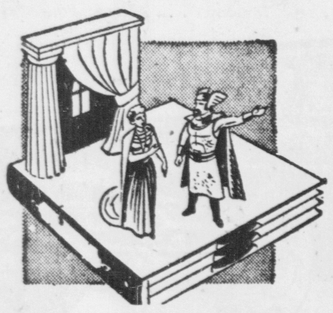

The enrollment committee of the Chicago Maternity Center, composed of residents of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect, met January 13 at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hookum, 608 S. Bristol lane, Arlington Heights.

The group made plans for a cocktail dance to be held February 7 at Barrington Hills Country club. Tickets will be $5 per couple.

Words & Music

by

Erica Floyd

The third event of the current series of Community Concerts presented Sacha Gorodnitzki, pianist, in a concert of masterworks familiar to concert lovers and musicians alike.

The artist, Russian born and brought to this country in early youth, is a sincere musician, pleasantly friendly, humble in manner, and gracious in conversation.

As his program progressed and he warmed up to the work of the evening, his most scintillating playing was in the latter part of his Chopin group and the compositions of Liszt. Singularly enough, his two encores included the E minor waltz (played at a terrific tempo), and the ever popular A flat Polonaise.

The best playing was evident in the beautiful A flat Ballade, where Chopin rises to heights of beauty and contrast. A cleaness of technic and modest restraint characterized the LaCampanella and yet there was enough fire to remind one that Franz Liszt composed one of the great showpieces for the piano keyboard in this composition, and meant it to be heard; it is not a work for weak fingers, nor for playing in public before thoroughly mastered.

DeBussy also struck a response from this artist, although the "Girl with the Flaxen Hair" and "Fireworks" are not the most representative works of this French master.

A word must be said, however, in regard to Beethoven, who was represented on the program by his great F minor Sonata, commonly known as the "Appassionata." To be a great Beethoven player, or admirer, or even listener, one must have somewhat of a stormy character, moody at times, yet sensitive to great depths of tender melodic line at others.

It takes time for Beethoven to speak—he was not a composer to give out his thoughts in 48 bars of music, nor in ten minutes of concentrated listening. The piano must pour forth tremendous volumes of rushing tone in the first movement—great crashing chords followed by a soft roll of a yearning melodic thought played in octaves above a most beautiful accompaniment.

The Andante movement is one of the most beautiful expressions of melodic variation ever set to print, and Arlington Heights concert goers can say they never heard it played more tenderly. Perhaps, however, the great crescendoes need a giant in stature, or one in tune with the great frustrations of life, so as to be able to pour into the music the furious struggle of a man's soul against the vicissitudes of earth's problems.

All told, the concert was a great success, and many of us wish to hear the artist again in seasons yet to come, with perhaps more of his scintillating Chopin and a good measure of DeBussy.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

An excellent recipe for Chow Mein which Mrs. Frank Holz concocted herself is our feature of the week.

This talented cook has combined a variety of tasty ingredients to produce a dish that is flavorful and crispy. So many Chow Meins tend to become soggy, but if you'll follow her methods you should have satisfactory results.

Lean pork shoulder is used for the meat, while the vegetables include green pepper, celery, onions, pimiento, bean sprouts and mushrooms. Molasses and soy sauce are flavorings, while cornstarch is used as the thickening agent.

Chow Mein is served over rice and topped with Chinese noodles. Mrs. Holz usually accompanies this dish with hot rolls and a salad.

The Holzes live at 358 S. Newbury in Arlington Heights. They have two sons, Douglas, 11, who is in fifth grade at the Dryden school, and Dennis, 7, who is in second grade. Mrs. Holz is a member of the PTA.

Chow Mein

1 pound lean pork shoulder, ½-inch thick
2 tablespoons melted fat or salad oil
Salt and pepper to taste
1¼ cups water
½ medium green pepper, cut in strips
2 cups pascal celery, cut diagonally
1 cup sliced onions
¼ can pimiento, diced
1 can bean sprouts
1 three-ounce can sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons dark molasses
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Cut pork into 4-inch long, narrow strips. Saute in fat until brown. Salt and pepper. Then add water and simmer 20 minutes or until done.

Drain bean sprouts but not the mushrooms. Add all ingredients except cornstarch to cooked pork. Cover and cook for 10 minutes. Mix cornstarch in a little water an add to Chow Mein. Stir gently for two minutes.

Serve over rice and top with Chow Mein noodles.

Elk Grove Home Bureau To Meet

Elk Grove unit of Cook County Home Bureau will meet January 27 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Busse.

The group met December 23 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Seitmann for a pot luck luncheon followed by a business meeting. The major lesson on "Effects of Overweight On Health" was given by Mrs. Ed Linneman and Mrs. Harry Wille.

Officers for the new year were elected. They are: Mrs. Marvin Busse, chairman; Mrs. Milton Cramer, vice chairman; and Mrs. J. Druttlein, secretary-treasurer.

After the meeting games were played and Santa Claus arrived bringing a gift for everyone.

Plan Skating Party

The Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights will hold a skating party January 17 at Deer Grove.

A meeting at the church in charge of Natalie Glover and Carol Rapp will precede the party and refreshments will be served after the skating party.

Author To Speak Before Woman's Club

MRS. CATHERINE CLEVEN

The literature and drama study group of Arlington Heights Woman's club will meet January 19 at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont ave., at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. James Smith, chairman, has announced that Mrs. Catherine Cleven, author of "The Secret of the King's Field," the historical novel for children, which won the national prize in the children's division of the Midwestern Writers' Conference contest two years ago, will give a talk on creative writing at this meeting.

Mrs. Cleven will also show the original illustrations of her book and will have several copies of the book with her that she will be happy to autograph for members. Mrs. Cleven's new story being published in the well known magazine "Children's Activities" for the month of February, is titled, 'The Horse Who Saved George Washington" and should be brought to the attention of the younger generation.

There will also be a question and answer period at this meeting conducted by Mrs. Cleven for the benefit of members interested in doing creative writing.

A one act play will also be presented by Girl Scout troop 95 under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Tice.

Co-hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Marion Hogate and Mrs. H. Hoym.

Evening Guild To Show Movie

The Evening Guild of St. John's Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, will hold its regular meeting January 20 at 8 p. m. in the undercroft of the church.

The program will consist of a movie.

St. John's is the Episcopal church serving Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, and Arlington Heights. Any newcomers wishing to visit the Evening Guild and members who are in need of transportation are urged to call Mrs. J. Kemp Blackwell at Clearbrook 3-0737.

Hostesses for the January meeting are Mrs. Clair B. Owen Jr., chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. B. Smeed and Mrs. F. G. Suhr.

Legion Auxiliary District Meeting

The next meeting of the ninth district of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at Wilson Park Field house, 4630 Milwaukee ave., January 21.

Miss Mary Schwartz, legislative chairman, has announced that Larry Fenlon, past department commander, will be the guest speaker.

The annual dinner given by the district in honor of the department president will be held April 29 at 6:30 p.m. at Nielsen's restaurant, 7330 North ave., Chicago.

AAUW To Hold Program On Propaganda

The Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women will begin the new year with a meeting January 21 to discuss and analyze propoganda.

Mrs. George E. Bailey of Des Plaines, president of the group, wil call the meeting to order at 8:15 p.m. in St. Martin's church, Des Plaines.

The speaker will be Genter Dahl, a public relations consultant in Chicago and a member of the Des Plaines City council. He has chosen as his topic, "Why is Propaganda Effective?" A question period will follow his discussion.

The program is jointly sponsored by the Legislative Chairman, Mrs. C. H. Bentley of Des Plaines and the Social Studies Chairman, Miss Joan Shaw of Park Ridge.

The social committee for the evening will be Miss Roberta Finland, Miss Joan Evans, Miss Stella Sczygielski, Mrs. Bruce Graham, Mrs. W. S. Uhl, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. L. B. Alford, Mrs. W. H. Reynolds, all of Des Plaines, Miss Barbara Paulus of Arlington Heights, Miss Joan Suchy of Cary, and Mrs. R. E. Boyer, Chicago.

MRS. GEORGE E. Bailey, president of Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women, will represent this area in the midwinter board meeting of the Illinois State division of AAUW to be held January 16 in Chicago.

The sessions will be held in the Columbian room of the Congress hotel beginning at 9 a.m.

Mrs. George Reinhardt will be the hostess. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Walter Belcher, Mrs. C. E. Frederickson, Mrs. James Burton, and Mrs. Carl Reitmeyer.

All members are asked to bring white elephants to the meeting.

Engagements

Eileen Shumaker

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Shumaker, 110 W. Fremont st., Arlington Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eileen, to Roger C. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. King of Rockford, Ill.

Miss Shumaker was graduated from Illinois State Normal university and is now teaching physical education at Ela-Vernon high school, Lake Zurich.

Mr. King was graduated from St. Thomas high school in Rockford and is now attending Illinois State Normal University. He previously spent two years in the marines.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Carol Hoffie

The engagement of Miss Carol Ann Hoffie and Ronald L. Grace is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Hoffie, 645 N. Haddow ave., Arlington Heights. Mr. Grace is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Grace, 15 W Davis st., Arlington Heights.

Miss Hoffie is a freshman at the University of Illinois, and her fiance is a sophomore at the same school.

Lois Carlson To Appear As Concert Soloist

Lois Carlson, who will sing with the Northwest Symphony Orchestra January 24, at 3:30 p. m., is an artist who loves music and shows it in speaking of her career.

Although she has appeared in public many times and has acquired an enthusiastic following, the concert at Maine township high school will be the first time she has sung on a symphony program.

The association had in mind a singer who would represent the community from which it draws its players, and when Lois Carlson won the recent auditions it found just such a person.

Her mother, who sang for her own enjoyment, taught Lois until her freshman year at Maine when Mrs. Francis Fish took over. Eight years of piano study previous to this stood her in good stead.

Upon graduation from high school, Lois worked in a Chicago office and studied at the American Conservatory. She also took up foreign languages, Italian, French and German. Preferring to stay in the community she did not take advantage of a musical scholarship won at that time but continued her study in Chicago. It was later, after her marriage that she studied with Rosa Raisa.

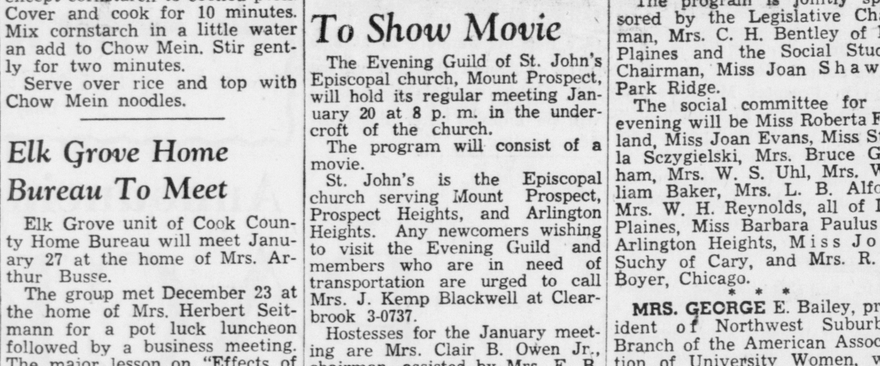

Her husband, George, is studying piano at the present time and gets a kick out of the musical activity about their new home in Park Ridge. Son George, 8½ years, has recenly become proficient in carrying a tune but may be nosed out by Eric, 5 years, who can already sing on key and may be the family musician.

In voice work Mrs. Carlson enjoys singing church songs. Her voice is well suited to operatic numbers as shown by her appearances during the Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by the Chicago Tribune in 1946. In tone quality Lois Carlson is classified as a dramatic soprano, one which is between a lyric and a mezzo-soprano, with a range suitable for almost any type of song.

Although she has done mostly classical music, she likes lighter numbers as well and is at present enjoying her work with the "Singing Fashionettes" thoroughly. This group appears for club and style shows, modeling costumes and singing musical comedy scores and semi-classics. She finds this ensemble singing is excellent training in harmony.

Mr. Held is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Held of Arlington Heights.

News Of Rolling Meadows

by PAT KATKUS

Happy birthday to Robert Keller. Neighbors boys who came over to help him celebrate were Robert Pina, William Adduci, and Bill Kloughis; also Robert's older brother, Kenneth, 11. Both attend Palatine grammar school.

Mrs. Keller had an afternoon get-together with her friends, Mrs. Kloughis, Mrs. McGovern, and Mrs. Jacobson. The main purpose was a demonstration of the washer and dryer, but coffee and cake played an important part.

Mr. Keller is a member of the Farm Bureau and the American Legion. He is employed by the Country Mutual Casualty Co., Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller have the only "pink" house on Wilke rd.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Nebel are not newcomers to Arlington Heights, although they are first time home owners. The Nebels have two children, Gary 5, and Sandy Kay, 2. Gary attends St. Peter Lutheran school in Arlington.

Mr. Nebel is a claim adjuster for the State Farm Auto Insurance Co. Mrs. Nebel says she is patiently awaiting spring so she can begin work in her garden. Mr. Nebel is probably glad it is "her" garden. Both like to bowl.

Many men from Rolling Meadows Home Owners Association met Monday night to discuss the pending matters particularly the rezoning of lots on Wilke rd. Representing Kimball Hill were William Dean, construction; Rocky Gruber, service and Burton Smith, a well known lawyer. Representing Rolling Meadows, W. Groves, K. Schraeder, C. Nottke, W. Gent, C. Martin, P. Adduci, W. Schurak, F. Messina, D. McMaguire, G. Novak, V. Kaseska, C. McCormick, P. Keller and C. Bremer.

Also discussed was the need for block captains who will hear complaints of individual owners and represent them at association meetings.

William Dean, speaking on behalf of Kimball Hill, said in regards to the rezoning, that when they originally planned Rolling Meadows they had absolutely no idea that Westgate was to be other than a strictly residential area.

January 12, at 8 p.m. was the day that Kimball Hill's representative and residents of Rolling Meadows went before the Rezoning Board of Appeals to protest the rezoning.

The Home Owners Association will elect officers April 1, when a "General Discussion" meeting will be held. All residents will be able to voice their opinions at this time. It also affords an opportunity to brief all newer residents on major problems.

Ray Feind Selected As Interlocutor

Ray Feind, a senior, has been selected as interlocutor for the minstrel show which will be presented by the music department of Arlington Heights high school, Saturday, Feb. 6.

Competition for the job drew 15 boys and was close enough that June Leick, music instructor in charge of the show, was unable to announce winners of the endmen's jobs without further study and evaluation.

"Minstrel Parade" is the title chosen for the show, which will include a number of fine specialty acts, as well as the singing and joke spinning of the regular minstrel show.

Elk Grove Community

All-School Skating Party

Student council announces that next Tuesday is Elk Grove school's own private night at the Arlington Heights Roller rink. Hours are 7-10:30 and remember there is no school the next day. Prices will be lowered to 50 cents admittance, 25 cents for shoe skates and 10 cents for clamp-ons. Rink is almost a mile west of Arlington Heights business district on Northwest hwy. All pupils must arrange their own transportation.

Speaker from Austria

Mothers' club meeting today, Thursday, at 1:30 will be highlighted by an Austrian, Miss Katharina Hammer, who teaches in the Women's Vocation school in Bad Ischl, Upper Austria. She speaks excellent English and has a wide background of travel, schooling and teaching. She is visiting schools in this country.

Health Department Head Coming

Dr. John Hall, director, Cook County Department of Public Health, in company with some of his sanitary engineers, will meet with a representative Elk Grove Township school health council next Monday afternoon at the school. Forest View and St. John Lutheran school will also participate.

Both school and community health problems will be discussed and recommendations made for improvements to safeguard further the health of the Elk Grove children and those of the entire area as well.

Principal Dennis Malcolmson, who is chairman of this interschool conference, will represent Elk Grove, as will Harry Wille, board president; Mrs. Franklin Landmeier, health chairman of the Mothers' club, and Mrs. Norma Snap of the teaching staff.

Paper Drive Profitable

Eighth grade club is $32 richer due to the hard-working efforts of its pupils. Special credit should be given to the muscle-men who "stevedored" the paper as well as to their class sponsor at that time, Mrs. Balson.

The club thanks all the Elk Grove families who save papers through the year. One contributor was a pupil of this school district back in the nineteenth century who now has grandchildren in school, Robert, Alice and Kenneth Bollman.

Reminders

January 19—Skating party, 7.m p.m.

January 19—Deadline for seeds and seed money returns.

January 19—Deadline for pupil March of Dimes contributions.

January 20—No school, Arlington Area Teachers' institute.

Dental inspection slips are due at school before February 1.

Feehanville School

MRS. ARTHUR R. HANSON
Va. 4-4788

The executive board of the Feehanville PTA will hold its January meeting tonight, Thursday, at the Feehanville school. Mrs. Alma Mueller, president, will be hostess for the evening.

The regular meeting of the Feehanville PTA will be January 15. This is going to be Brownie night, and the leaders have planned a short but interesting program. Please come early so you won't miss any of it. After the program the assembly will have its business meeting while the Brownies are enjoying refreshments downstairs. (And do notice how chic and authoritative our leaders look in their new uniforms!)

It never rains but it pours. Ask Betty Flink, she can prove it. When her little Chris was convalescing from the mumps, that invaluable aid to a weary mother, the television set, blanked out. Nothing daunted, she picked out a group of records—and then the phonograph refused to work. However, when the old standby, the radio, blew a tube, that was the last straw. Betty has lost faith in the Mechanical age.

Another family who has been incommunicado this last week is the Brookhouzen family. Little Paul has had the mumps. The Brookhouzens' next door neighbors, the Messners, have had one of their children in bed with the mumps, also.

The two youngest Badalamenti boys, Jimmy and Paul, have both been very sick.

Little six-year-old Marlene Unger is at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago, getting treatment for an eye injury. She injured her eye while playing at home during the holidays, and infection set in. The doctors are working hard to check the infection before it spreads to the other eye. A few get-well cards might brighten her day a little.

Accidents can happen under the strictest supervision. Carla Haverkampf fractured her little finger in a soccer game during the last recess at school last Thursday. She finished out the school day without reporting it to the teacher. She did not realize it was badly hurt, but when she arrived home her finger was so swollen her parents took her to the doctor for an x-ray. The x-ray showed the bone was broken in several places.

The Forest River Boys' brigade came home victorious from the first basketball game of the season. This was held in the Holmes school in Oak Park with the Leavitt Street Bible Church-team. The Brigadiers' first string rolled up a score of 12-0 in the first quarter, and from then on Manager Emert Roos switched the players around so every member of the Brigade had a chance to play in little big time. The final score was 42-21. Tonight, Thursday, they will play Elmhurst, who were champions of the league last year. This will be at 7 o'clock in the Lincoln school gym, Kenilworth st., Oak Park. This year the league is giving two trophies, one for sportsmanship and one for championship.

St. James basketball team played Prospect Heights last Friday. The Prospect Heights' junior team won, but the senior team lost. Two of our boys, Billy Phar and Christie Stavros, were on the team. The cheering section was in good voice under the able leadership of five cheer leaders.

The Lady of Lourdes Catholic Women's Guild met last Friday at the home of Agnes Phares. They were glad to welcome two new members, Jean Dunkinson and Betty Arkell. After a short business meeting, fifteen minutes were spent in prayer. March 28 was a tentative date set for a tea for the Catholic ladies in this district. This is still in the planning stage and there will be more details later. Games and refreshments completed the evening, with the ever-absorbing topics, "Our homes and our children" dominating the conversation. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Gilbert Seilheimer's home the second Friday in February.

Congratulations to Judy Munson, who had a birthday this past week. She is now "eleven, going on twelve."

Congratulations, also, to Marilyn Sandquist on her birthday. This is her last birthday as Miss Sandquist, as she is getting married Saturday to Richard Roos. The wedding and reception will be held at the Forest River church.

Do not say, "John chanced in yesterday." It is better to say, "John happened to call yesterday."

Do not say, "It seems funny that he would do such a thing." Say, "It seems queer (or, unusual."

Prospect Meadows

Polio Drive

The annual Mothers' march for polio in Prospect Meadows will be held January 27 from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. A lighted porch light is the only means of identifying the stops to be made for the wind-up contribution. Mothers who will participate will be announced later.

Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moeller, 604 Bunting lane, entertained a group of friends Saturday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. Higgens, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schultz, Marengo, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rateike, Itasca.

New Son

James Allen Orlowski was born December 27 at Walther Memorial hospital, Chicago, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Orlowski of 621 Bunting lane. James Allen, who weighed 7 pounds and 13 ounces at birth, has a brother, Bobby, 5, and sister, Connie, 2.

Civic Groups

The Prospect Meadows Property Owners' Association will have its regular meeting January 14 at the Prospect Heights fire house.

The Prospect Meadows Women's Auxiliary will have its regular meeting January 27 at 8:30 p. m. at Mount Prospect village hall. Bingo and refreshments will be enjoyed after the business meeting.

SOIL DESTROYS GARMENTS
Everybody knows what a soiled garment is. And how it gets that way is no mystery either. Dust in the atmosphere, perspiration, skin oils and plain old dirt get onto and then into the garment, and that's that.
Well, sir, it's pretty simple, you say. When it's soiled, take it to the cleaners.
Yes — but —
1. NEVER PRESS ANY GARMENT UNLESS IT HAS BEEN CLEANED. A garment which is visibly soiled is seldom pressed. Often, however, a garment which has been worn or has hung in the closet, is pressed and worn again. This only serves to imbed the grime more deeply into the fabric and hasten deterioration.
2. CLEAN CLOTHES OFTEN. By all tests known and applied, a garment cleaned often always outwears one that isn't by a wide margin. Aside from looking unpleasant, soil acts chemically, on the fibers of a fabric and reduces their tensile strength. A recent test showed that 100 CLEANINGS CAUSED LESS WEAR THAN ONE WEEK OF WEARING WHILE SOILED!
3. Mere "cleaning" isn't by itself sufficient guarantee of cleanliness. To be THOROUGHLY cleaned, the garment must be cleaned in fresh and potent solvents for a prescribed period of time, thoroughly spotted before and after cleaning is required, then handled properly afterwards.
A good many cleaners — as we know — try to economize on solvents and spotting procedures, with the result that a "cleaned" garment is often only apparently so. That's not enough.
You'll find that we use fresh and potent solvents at all times. That our "before and after" spotting procedures are thorough. And that our handling of garments after cleaning precludes any resoiling before the garment comes back to you.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That harmony in daily affairs demands obedience to God's laws will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" includes the following account of counsel by Christ Jesus from the Bible:

"And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments" (Matthew 19: 16, 17).

The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"We apprehend Life in divine Science only as we live above corporeal sense and correct it. Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity" (167: 6).

Central YMCA Classes

Featuring an unusual selection of new courses, Learning For Living, Chicago's unique program of evening adult education classes at Central YMCA, 19 S. LaSalle opens the winter term on Monday, January 18.

New courses which make their bow this term are "How To Fix It," "How To Buy Or Build A Home," "Christianity and Communist," "Visits with Great Religious Leaders."

Lessons In.... English

by W. L. GORDON

Do not say, "Let's don't go tonight." Say, "Let's not go."

Do not say, "Henry came near winning the contest." Say, "almost won the contest."

In best usage, "between" applies to only two, and "among" to more than two. "He found himself between two fires." "He is a man among men."

Distinguish between "specie" and "species." "Specie" means money in the shape of coin, is a collective noun, and has no plural form. Thus, "He was paid in specie." "Species" means a class of things having some characteristics in common; as, "a species of the crow-foot family of plants." "Species" is both singular and plural.

Do not say, "The board of trustees were quick to divide up the profits." Say, "was quick," and omit "up."

Do not say, "Which of the two buildings is the largest?" Say, "is the larger," when referring to two.

Words Often Mispronounced

Waikiki (Hawaiian resort). Pronounce wi-ki-ke, first i as in wine, second i as in kick, e as in key, accent last syllable.

Pro rata. Pronounce the first a as in ray (not as in rat), accent first syllable of second word.

Decathlon. Pronounce de-kath-lon, e as in me unstressed, a as in at, o as in on, accent second syllable.

Depravity. Pronounce the a as in at, not as in ate, accent second syllable.

Status. Pronounce as stay-tuss.

Protocol. Pronounce pro-to-kol, first and second o's as in no, third o as in on, accent first syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Reconnoiter; one c, two n's. Peaceable; observe the cea. Stratagem; observe the a after the second t; strategy, observe the e after the second t. Portion (share); potion (a dose, usually of liquid medicine). Bankruptcy; observe the ptcy. Councilor (member of a council); counseler (an adviser).

Word Study

'Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Expatiate; to enlarge in discourse or writing; be copious in discussion or description. (Pronounce eks-pa-shi-at, both a's as in ate, accent second syllable). "He expatiated her charms."

Deference; courteous regard for another's wishes. "The elderly man was treated with deference."

Reticent; inclined to keep silent. "He was reticent, and would not divulge the secret."

Ignominious; humiliating; degrading. "He heard the judge pronounce the ignominious sentence."

Presumptuous; taking for granted; overbold. "It is a presumptuous idea."

Lucrative; profitable. "The profession is very lucrative."

Dimes Chairman

Richard Howard "Dick" Rush, 14-year-old Urbana High school freshman, has been named Illinois school chairman of the 1954 March of Dimes. The announcement was made by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction and vice chairman of the Illinois drive. The March of Dimes will continue until January 31.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What is one supposed to say to the bride and bridegroom at the wedding reception, also what do you say to their parents?

A. You wish the bride all happiness, congratulate the bridegroom, tell the bride's parents how lovely the bride is, and tell the bridegroom's parents what a charming couple they make.

Q. Do ladies and gentlemen ever chew gum in public places?

A. Certainly, they do—but they take pains to do it quietly and inconspicuously. Nothing is more obnoxious than open-mouthed or audible chewing of gum.

Q. What apology should one offer if one accidentally brushes against another person on the street, or in some public conveyance?

A. "I am sorry," or, "I beg your pardon."

Q. Should a child always rise when being introduced?

A. Children should be taught to do this at the earliest possible age. It is insolent for them to keep their seats, but if they have not been taught to rise, they should not be criticized for this lack of courtesy. It is only too obvious where the fault lies.

Q. How should the butter knife be placed on the individual butter plates, horizontally across the top or vertically at the right side?

A. There is no set rule about this, but the consensus is that it looks better placed in the same direction as the other silver.

Q. Isn't the bridegroom supposed to pay for the wedding music?

A. No; this expense is borne by the bride or her family.

Q. Is it all right to dip the napkin into a glass of water, after eating, and wipe the mouth and fingers?

A. If no finger bowl has been provided, it is proper to hold your napkin in one hand and tip the glass enough to wet it. This is better than "dunking" the napkin in the glass.

Q. Is it necessary for a bride-elect to reply to notes expressing good wishes from her friends who have seen the engagement announcement in the paper?

A. It is not necessary for her to write notes, but she may telephone some of her friends and she most certainly should thank all those whom she meets.

Q. Even if the wedding is to be very small and informal, would it be all right for a bride to wear a white bridal veil?

A. Yes, provided it is not her second marriage.

Q. When applesauce is served with pork, should it be eaten with a spoon for fork?

A. It is better to use the fork.

From above we can hear the crowd below growling and grumbling and taking it easy.
—Robert Dollar

Character is the real foundation of all worth-while success.

Palatine Resident Gets Columbia Degree

Harold L. Reeve, Inverness, Palatine, received the honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters—honoris causa, from Columbia university Monday, January 11. Mr. Reeve is senior vice president of Chicago Title and Trust company, where he has been associated since 1932.

The honorary degree was presented by Grayman Kirk, president of Columbia University, at the first bicentennial convocation at Riverside church, New York. Mr. Reeve presented a paper, "The influence of the metropolis on the concepts, rules and institutions relating to property" at the conference on "The Metropolis in Modern Life," sponsored by Columbia university as part of its bicentennial celebration.

The north suburban resident is the author of several standard works on real estate law and is considered one of the leading authorities on the subject. He has lectured at various midwest universities and for a number of years conducted a course on real estate and mortgage law at the Graduate School of Banking of the American Bankers Association at Rutgers University. He is an active member of the Chicago, Illinois and American Bar Associations and a life member of the American Law Institute.

Thanks For Attending

It was indeed an honor to welcome such a distinguished guest speaker as Miss Katharina Hammer, the visiting teacher from Austria, Monday, Jan. 11. Miss Hammer spoke mostly about Austria, its home life, industries, schools, transportation and hardships endured during the war. An informal discussion period followed, after which refreshments were served.

Thanks to our social chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Hartman, for making the arrangements and to Mrs. Howard Koepke and all the ladies who brought and made refreshments.

School Board Meeting

The board of directors will hold its monthly meeting January 18, at 8 p.m., at the school. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

The Northwest Area Teacher's Institute will be held Wednesday, January 20. There will be no school that day.

Palatine Loses Wrestling To York

Palatine lost their first wrestling matches of the season last week Tuesday to York High of Elmhurst, a team which has suffered only one defeat. The score was 26-21.

The Pirates had two pins by Ronnie Bessemer and Lawrence Wheeler and York had two. One match was a draw and the others were split with the exception of a forfeit in the 133 division which was the five point margin of defeat for Palatine. Palatine boys winning on points were McCreery, Wehner, and Charles Grant.

Wilson Community

Magic Show

The magic show given by Richard Schwertfeger at the PTA meeting last Friday evening was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The children are anxious to have him perform again.

Five more students entered Wilson school last week, adding again to the ever increasing enrollment. The two-room addition put on last year is already filled to capacity.

Vacationers

The Gilbert Klehms of Palatine rd. have returned from a month's vacation in Florida and the Bahamas where they enjoyed fine balmy days and visited many friends who were formerly from this area.

Tickets for the Valentine dance at Bill's Buffalo House in Buffalo Grove February 13 may be obtained from any Community club member or purchased at the door. This dance is sponsored by the Wilson School Community club, and music will be furnished by the Melody Whips. Proceeds will be used for the black top court in the school yard. There will be variety and square dancing.

SHOPPING with SHARON

This month and next Arlington Heights Pharmacy, 25 W. Davis st., will feature outstanding cosmetic values in creams and lotions made by leaders in the cosmetic world. Helena Rubinstein's estrogenic hormone cream and oil, a regular $5 value, is now just $3.50. Many of Dorothy Gray's products are being offered at amazing savings. The cellogen hormone cream, regularly $5, is $2.50 . . . blustery weather and dry skin lotions, regularly $2, are now just $1 each . . . hormone hand cream, regularly $2.50, is $1.25. Her dry skin mixture in a handy plastic container for easy traveling is usually priced at $4 and $2.25 . . . it's now $1.75 and $1. Du Barry's hand and body lotion in the regular $2 size is now just $1. I would suggest that you get your favorites today and get a good supply.

It starts today. Yes, Pearce's January Clearance Sale begins today and continues until the end of the month. But we suggest that you shop early before the stock begins to vanish. Pearce's will hold their annual two for one sale on dresses at this time. You'll be able to buy two dresses for the price of one during January. Also on sale will be ladies winter jackets and coats, ladies skirts, children's snowsuits, sweaters, children's jackets, ladies' and children's flannel sleep wear, slipper sox, children's and ladies' anklets at four for $1, and various other items will also be reduced to clear. Saturday, January 16, Pearce's, at the corner of Bothwell and Chicago aves. in Palatine, will give double the usual amount of green stamps on all purchases.

The Bounty Fair on Northwest hwy. in Palatine is also having a clearance sale this month. While they last all Christmas cards, candles and decorations will be sold at a tremendous savings for you. Also reduced to save you lots of money are purses, jewelry and other interesting items.

Here's a sale with imagination! The Squire Shop, located at the bend on Northwest hwy. in Palatine, is holding their biggest event of the year — a roll-back sale beginning January 15 and continuing until January 31. Prices will be cut to the bone to bring back the "good old days." In other words they will be comparable to those 25 years ago. Stock worth $35,000 must be moved. More than 250 pair of slacks valued to $15.95 per pair will be sold at $7.88 per pair. Customers will be limited to two pair. Manhattan and Arrow dress shirts valued at $3.95 and $4.95 will be sold for $1.98. Men's jackets previously priced to $24.95 will be $9.99 during this sale.

Perhaps you've already received your TV Tab, which has one month's complete television listings. If you want to continue receiving it, notify the Squire shop by writing, calling or stopping in and they will send it to you free of charge monthly. The magazine, which contains only a Squire Shop ad on the back cover, will also notify you in advance of newspaper publication of coming sales.

Roll Back Sale

The management of Monroe's Squire Shop in Palatine announces the opening of their annual Roll Back sale, Friday, Jan. 15, in a full page ad in this edition of Paddock Publications.

This sale has gained tremendous popularity in the past two years. Last year a tabulation was taken the opening day of the sale, and disclosed over 1700 persons visited the store that day. Early shoppers have the advantage of choice selections.

All merchandise is regular stock and first quality.

Close to $40,000 in stock will be placed on sale until completely sold. In past years the stock is usually exhausted the first week. This year Monroe has twice the amount to dispose of. Store will remain open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every evening during the sale.

To facilitate handling the crowds the store has established a policy of self-service. However, clerks are available for any assistance with plenty of parking facilities available.

A young boy was accidentally burned while playing around a neighbor's bon fire. I understand the owner's Personal Liability policy paid over $3000 in damages. Does such insurance cost only $10 per year?

LaGrange Host To York In West Suburban Thriller Friday

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

RESULTS IN THE Northwest conference last Friday followed the form chart, but two upsets were narrowly averted. Wauconda was badly beaten by Ela, but recovered to win and the same was true at Bensenville where the Bisons had the game won from Grant and then faded.

The conclusion we draw is that the three league leaders are in for some rough times before the season is over and this week's schedule is made to order for upsets.

We think that Grant is set for a defeat at the hands of Ela-Vernon. The Bulldogs beat Palatine by one point and had narrow squeeze at Bensenville Friday. We think the Ela-Vernon Bears will hand them their first defeat. Palatine, strengthened by the return of "Tinker" Meyer to action, is ready to give Antioch a stiff ball game at Antioch. Grayslake will probably find Glenbrook a team they can beat. Bensenville, not so good on the road, but plenty tough at home, will find Wauconda's height and strong defense a real stumbling block, but the Bisons are coming along and will be no pushover.

PALATINE HAD A TURNOUT of 1,200 spectators for the game with Glenbrook Friday, 50% more than watched the Chicago champ, DuSable team pleay here. That seems odd inasmuch as Glenbrook has yet to win a game and Palatine had not notched a victory at home in six starts.

It was a case of two victory hungry schools getting together and somebody had to win.

A more important factor was the friendly rivalry engendered by the fact that 200 Glenbrook students attended Palatine high last year.

ASSIGNMENTS ARE OUT for the regional tournaments and to all indications Barrington will have an easy time taking the regional for the fourth year in a row.

Next to the Bronchos would probably be Arlington Heights and Wauconda. These two would have to improve a lot to give Barrington competition in the tournament at Palatine in March.

ANTIOCH SET A Northwest conference record for modern times when they were charged with only five fouls as they defeated Grayslake, 51-26. Grayslake made only two free throws. The game of basketball today is not played in a way that would result in so few fouls being committed.

We suspect officiating was on the lax side in many instances Friday night with only 21 fouls called in the Grant at Bensenville game, 23 at Wauconda where Ela played, and 19 in the Antioch-Grayslake contest.

At Palatine in the Glenbrook game where Stanley LeMoyne and Ken Grever worked an efficient game, a total of 46 were called and it was not a rough contest by any means.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, when Wauconda plays at Palatine, the championship teams which represented Palatine in 1933-34 and 1934-35 will be the guests of the high school and will be introduced at the game. Carl Megel, who coached these teams to 10-2 and 11-1 records, will be present for a reunion with the lettermen of these years whom he directed.

Megel, who went to Chicago's Lake View High School in the spring of 1935 to teach general science, became very much interested in teachers union work and worked himself up to the presidency of the American Federation of Teachers, a position he has held the past two years.

THAT BOWLING IS A competitive sport was shown at Bensenville when more than 700 persons bowled and watched the Paddock tournament run off on schedule. Fifth squad was ready to start eight minutes early, attesting to the cooperation of alley managers, pin spotters, scorers, etc.

There were alibis aplenty as 180 average bowlers had trouble hitting 430, but we think the event proved the advantage of home alleys.

A "home team" has won the tournament each year it has been presented, though almost any squad, bowling just 25 pins over their average each game could have walked away with the trophies (and $78).

WASHINGTON SENATORS now have three pitchers who beat Cleveland 14 times last year, losing once: Porterfield (5-0), Shea (4-0) and McDermott (5-1) . . . Al Klingel, now in his second year as swimming coach at Illinois, followed Edwin Manley, who held the position 41 years . . . Intramural athletics at DeKalb college includes four leagues of 28 basketball teams involving 300 players . . .

On the schedule for Elgin high this year are York, loser of one game in a double overtime, Moline, conqueror of the state champs, and LaGrange, in addition to Big Eight foes West and East Aurora, and Freeport . . . Jimmy Peters, now with the Chicago Blackhawks, has played with four different National hockey league squads . . .

Pirates, Bisons Improved, May Be Troublesome

The Northwest conference basketball race will enter its sixth week Friday with a full slate of games .Top game on the card is the Grant-Ela-Vernon contest to be played at Lake Zurich. Grant has had trouble in their last two games getting by second diivsion Palatine and Bensenville and may find Ela-Vernon too much for them.

Right on the heels of undefeated Grant are Antioch and Wauconda, who have a good chance of eventually replacing the Bulldogs at the top of the heap.

Palatine is on the upgrade. With Richard "Tinker" Meyer back in action the Pirates looked a good deal better and will improve as the Pirate guard gets his shotting eye. While Antioch, with a smooth ball team led by Ben Floyd, Mike Haviland, and Fred Clarke, is a heavy favorite Friday it will be no surprise if the Pirates give Scott's Sequoits a tough battle.

BENSENVILLE cannot do much about their lack of height which has given them the worst defensive record in the league, but the Bisons certainly can hit the basket. The combination of Long, Gengel, Breese, Cuatrecasas, and Sirotzki almost beat Grant Friday on the Bensenville court.

Friday the Bisons travel to Wauconda to meet one of the best teams in the loop. Wauconda lost the opener to Grant and since has beaten them in two different tournaments. Otherwise the Wauconda record is unblemished and Harold Bass and Bob Hecht, a pair of rugged guards, who did not play in the season opener due to football injuries have a lot to do with Wauconda's success.

GLENBROOK is a school without a basketball home and has to play at Grayslake this week instead of holding their planned gym opening. When Glenbrook and Ela-Vernon finally get their gyms they will have to play about all their remaining games at home due to the shifts in schedule they have had to make thus far.

Glenbrook has neither the size nor experience on their squad to play schools of their enrollment in basketball on even terms. However, a bright note for the future is the Glenbrook frosh-soph unit which appears to be good enough to come close to a .500 season.

AS FAR AS the frosh-soph division is concerned it looks like a championship for Ela's young Bears. As freshmen they were undefeated last year and are carrying on at the same winning pace. Grant appears to be the only soph team capable of challenging Ela and Friday will tell the tale.

Arlington Host In Gymnastics This Thursday

Arlington's first gymnastics meet of the year, except for the invitational affair at Navy Pier in December, is slated for this Thursday afternoon when Leyden comes to town. The meet will be held in the balcony of the new gym starting at 3:30 p. m. Fans will sit in the permanent seats in the upper balcony.

Team tryouts Friday determined what boys would be participating in Thursday's meet. Lacking from the event, however, will be four boys disciplined by Coach Gay Hughes for breaking training. Leading the Franklin Park team in its first year of competition is Don Von Ebers.

COACH HUGHES will use four or five boys in each event, though only three boys listed below will count in the points. Bill Malcolm will be the only upper classman participating. The rest of the boys are freshmen or sophomores.

On the horizontal bar will be John Koeppen, Dick Neiland and Jim Spaulding.

On the parallel bar will be Koeppen, Bob Baas and Carl Krautwurst.

On the sidehorse will be Tom Pendleton, Koeppen and Krautwurst.

Performing on the longhorse will be Koeppen, Krautwurst and Pendleton.

In tumbling it will be Norbert Flowers, Bill Malcolm and Mickey Schumacher.

Flowers, Doug Leihy and Malcolm will compete on the trampoline with Koeppen, Baas and Krautwurst carrying the banner in all-around.

Len & Sev's IGA Wins Men's Bowling; Women This Sunday At Palatine

Len & Sev's IGA won Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournament at Bensenville Sunday, grossing 2899 on the second shift, a total that stood up despite 20 more teams aiming for the mark. The winners represented Bensenville Merchants league.

They came, they saw, but they didn't conquer.

That was the consensus of visiting bowlers in Bensenville Sunday when "home teams" took three of the first four positions in the Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournament. The women's tournament is slated for this Sunday at Palatine.

Len & Sev's IGA of the Bensenville league copped first honors, rolling 2515 actual, plus 384 handicap, 2899 gross. Second were the Dog Robbers of the Bensenville VFW league with 2341-414-2855.

THE TOURNAMENT was the best yet from the standpoint of time with the last shift ready to roll seven minutes ahead of schedule. The building was crowded, as to be expected with hundreds of persons either bowling or watching as the hours passed by.

The climax came on the final shift, Len & Sev's 2899 had stood through the 5:30 and 7:45 shifts, in spite of many good teams aiming for the top. It was expected a 3,000 gross would be necessary to take the prize. But as time wore on, that 2899 looked better and better.

WHEN DREYER Electric and Miller High Life opened fire at 10 o'clock, spectators felt that would tell the story — whether the low scores were the result of bowlers or the alleys. Dreyer with an average of 899 rolled 841 and 936, but fell to 821 when they needed 911. Miller rolled 820 and 850, but fell to 748 when they needed 936.

Complete results are published elsewhere in this issue, as are pictures of the winners of every shift. Consensus among bowlers was that the tournament is tops insofar as interest is concerned.

THIS WEEK interest shifts to Hi-Way Recreation, Palatine where 20 squads of women leaders will compete for another six trophies and approximately $142.50 in prizes. Squad times and schedules are being published this week.

The women will roll three games across six alleys with handicaps of 70% based against 875, 500 limit. Women are urged to be on time for the 1:00 and 3:15 shifts as the tournament should progress right on schedule.

Name Managers For Little League In Arlington Hts.

Team managers for the Arlington Heights Little League were named Monday night at a meeting of the board of directors at the fieldhouse. Selections of four Pony League managers and six Little League managers were announced by Wally Grace, chairman of the team managers committee.

The committee, including Herb Carl and Russ Attis, selected the men, then had the directors give their approval. Each manager will be responsible for selecting two official coaches from the list of those applying and others. Substitute coaches will be used in event of emergencies during the season.

THE BOARD of directors has expressed its appreciation to those volunteering to help Little League in Arlington Heights next summer. Next board meeting will be held Febrauary 8 when the board will seek the advice of the managers on how team personnel shall be selected. The ten managers named are invited to attend that session. The board will act upon the advice of the managers, then take final action on how players will be selected.

Pony League managers will include George Schaefer, Jack Mutti, Jack LeBeau and Bob Hutchinson. Little League managers include Ben Fleury, Henry Haiduke, Ed O'Gara, Gerald Beckman, George Tuttle and Bill Heitz.

North vs. South As Catholic Bowlers Meet At Mt. Prospect

Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes will have their own North vs. South game Sunday afternoon when leaders of the bowling leagues representing the two Arlington Heights Catholic churches meet on the alleys at 1 p.m.

Our Lady of the Wayside keglers won last year. St. James bowlers are confident they can turn the tables, however, and will be out to prove their point Sunday. Two teams, Duro Bros. and Jake's Barbers, rolled on the same shift in the Paddock tournament, but neither team has revealed their scores for that afternoon's efforts.

Wayne Malzahn goes up for a sure one for the Arlington frosh-sophs in their 54-40 victory over Hinsdale Saturday night. Malzahn has been slowed down with an ankle injury incurred in football, but is now beginning to operate at top efficiency. —Staff Photo.

Lose To Maine

Arlington Heights JV cagers lost to Maine Saturday morning, 58-44, with varsity reserves seeing plenty of action. High for Coach Howard Lester was Hutchinson with ten points. Lynk scored nine, Ryden eight. Heights was never in the game after the second quarter, Coach Lester using all 15 boys.

Arlington At Maine, Then Home To Crystal Lake

The game of the week for both divisions of the West Suburban league will be played Friday night at LaGrange when York attempts to make a contest of it against the Lions.

Odds are that York will do just that, with six other league schools pulling for an upset victory over Ted Caiazza and his mates.

York is just one game behind LaGrange in both varsity and frosh-soph divisions, with Arlington placing third in the younger section. The Cardinal varsity is now tied for seventh with Glenbard with a 1-5 record.

LOCALLY speaking, the Heights cagers journey to Maine with a good chance of copping their second league victory. Maine started slow this year, losing game after game by two to four points, then won two this past week end.

Heights won by one point over Downers Grove then lost five league games.

But Maine-Arlington rivalry has always been tight, league or no league. In eleven meetings between the two schools since '39, Heights has taken four victories. But recent losses were by two, two and four points. With Arlington's juniors improving slowly but steadily, the Maine game could be a Cardinal victory.

SATURDAY night the Arlington five comes home to meet Crystal Lake. The Lakers play JV ball instead of frosh-soph, so Coach Lester will be coaching both squads, including one of five varsity reserves and the first nine from the sophomores in the preliminary, then leading the varsity in the nightcap.

The Crystal Lake rivalry dates back to the days of the Northeast conference. Arlington has won eight of 24 games between the two schools.

Coach Maurice Klotz' frosh-sophs should cop victory number five against Main Friday night, but upsets can happen.

In other games Friday Riverside is at Hinsdale and Downers travels to Glenbard. Saturday night in non-league affairs. East Aurora will play at Downers Grove, Maine will travel to Niles and York moves on to Elgin.

Bob Schulze In First Match This Week For DeKalb At Beloit

John Reimer of York, sporting a 21-match undefeated string, will lead the Northern Illinois state wrestling team into its first match January 16, when the Huskies face Beloit college at Beloit. Although Northern will not hold elimination matches until next week, the Elmhust senior appears certain to retain his 130-lb. spot.

Other leading contenders are lettermen Ralph Krupke of South Beloit at heavyweight, Bob Schulze of Clarendon Hills (formerly Arlington Heights) at 177 and Bill Mededith of Oak Lawn at 137 lbs.

After the Beloit meet, the Huskies will face Eastern Illinois State at DeKalb on January 30; Beloit at DeKalb, February 6; Illinois Normal at Normal, February 13; Wheaton college at Wheaton, February 19; and will participate in the Wheaton Invitational Tournament

2nd Largest Crowd Sees Palatine Beat Glenbrook

A crowd exceeded in size only by that when the gym was dedicated, turned out to watch Palatine win a double bill from the new Glenbrook high school and improve their ranking in the Northwest standings. The Palatine varsity pulled away after a 13-12 first quarter and won easily 68-49. The frosh-sophs met tougher opposition but finished on top 36-31. It was the first time either Palatine team had won a game in the new gym which was opened November 13.

Led by the scoring of Alan Eck, Bill Breyer, and John Goetz and the all round play of "Tinker" Meyer, Palatine had the varsity game under control after 10 minutes. Good shooting by sophomore Bob Boyd, kept Glenbrook in contention during the first quarter, but after that Palatine piled up 13 points in a row before the Spartans could recover. Loss of center Ken Schulteis in the first half in five fouls cut Glenbrook's efficiency to a great extent.

WITH MEYER back in action for Palatine for the first time since a late September football injury, Palatine appeared much improved. Alan Eck at guard came into his own with Meyer for support and tallied 20 points. Bill Breyer had 17 and John Goetz 11 for the Pirates. Bob Boyd had six and five for 17 points to stand out for Glenbrook. Palatine shot 35% and Glenbrook 36% from the field.

Palatine's sophs led all the way but Glenbrook kept cutting the margin at intervals to give the Pirates a scare. Poor free throwing by Glenbrook cost them a victory as they made only nine out of 34 attempts. Palatine shot 32.5% from the field and Glenbrook 24%. Ormel Prust was Palatine's top scorer with 12 points. Stodder and Colburn each had 11 for Glenbrook. It was Palatine' third league victory in five games.

Wauconda's Bulldogs made the comeback of the year Friday night to whip the Ela-Vernon Bears, 56-51, and stay on the heels of the undefeated Grant with a 4-1 record. Trailing by 13 points going into the final six minutes of play, the Wauconda team put on a full court press which was so effective that they caught Ela and won going away.

Ela-Vernon had led 41-34 going into the final quarter and pulled still farther away before Wauconda started their rally. Harold Bass led the Wauconda assault with 19 points while Dennis Punches scored 16 and Gene Jaskot 15. Glen Chaffin scored 18 and Don Prouty for 13 for Ela-Vernon. Ela's unbeaten frosh-sophs won 58-20.

Last Quarter Rally Pays Off In Grant Win

Bensenville grabbed an early lead in Friday's game against Grant only to be outbattled in the last quarter to lose a heartbreaker to Grant's first place cagers, 50-44. Grant led, 41-39, going into the final period.

Sirotzki was top scorer for the Bisons as he hit for 18 points. Bresee was next in line with 9 and Cuatrecasas tossed in seven.

Grant's top scorer was Grenell with 16 and Guetzloff bucketed 10.

Palatine Wrestlers Defeat Glenbrook

Palatine High wrestlers edged out Glenbrook Tuesday night 23-21 with a great comeback. The Pirates trailed 21-9 with four matches remaining but Karl Grant, Paul Hess, and Lawrence Wheeler won on points and Charles Grant pinned Corso of Glenbrook to give Palatine 14 points in a row and the victory. Two hundred fans turned out to watch Palatine even the count against Glenbrook for the season to date. Glenbrook beat Palatine with all three football teams but the Pirates won two in basketball last Friday and the wrestling Tuesday. The grapplers coached by John Ellis have lost only once in six meets that being to York High of Elmhurst by five points. Tonight (Thursday) the Pirates are host in the old gym to the strong Arlington Heights squad. Matches start at 7:00 p.m. and admission is 25 cents for students and 40 cents for adults.

Arlington Still Losing But Scoring Punch Is Improving

Arlington's varsity cagers suffered two losses over the week end, a 62-52 affair at York Friday night, then a 64-51 lacing on the home floor against Hinsdale Saturday. The frosh-sophs lost at Elmhurst, 49-45, but won against Hinsdale, 51-40.

That Heights has improved since before the holidays was evident on the court both nights, but the change is still not large enough to meet West Suburban competition.

Bright spot for Coach Howard Lester was the spread of scoring among his boys, with Jack Riggs, Denny Maher, Wayne Mueller and Larry Slinkard each getting a trio of buckets against York. Riggs carded seven against Hinsdale the next night, with Bob Turner and George Skelton sinking three each.

YORK HIGH crept away from the Cardinal and White all the way Friday, stretching a 14-11 opening period margin to 29-22 at the half. It was 47-36 going into the final quarter.

Against Hinsdale Heights had one bad period, the second, when they tallied only seven points. In this department though, the locals' improvement can be noted.

Any team scoring less than ten points per quarter is a sure loser. Arlington failed to hit ten in eight of the first 22 quarters played this year, then ran a string of 19 periods in a row with 11 or more points.

THEY HIT 14 and 11 points four times each, 16 and 15 thrice each, and 12, 13, 17, 19 and 21 points per quarter once each. If the Cardinals can increase scoring punch another three points per quarter, fans will then get their share of victories.

York scoring was a three way affair with Falter getting 19, Anderson 14 and Strauch 13. Ron Hain led Hinsdale's efforts with 24 points.

Arlington kept even with Hinsdale the opening period, then came up against too many fouls. The 27 called against the Cardinals brought the winners 28 points, 15 more than Heights scored as a result of 16 visiting miscues.

The locals led from the field, 19-18.

Arlington Frosh-Sophs In Even Split Over Weekend

Arlington's frosh-soph basketball teams gained an even split over the week end when they dropped a four point decision to York, 49-45, then defeated Hinsdale, 54-40.

Ironically, though, the York game was their best performance of the year while the victory was a mediocre affair.

Bright spots in the double week end were the improvement of John Sujack and Wayne

About Your Income Tax

by ERNEST J. SAUBER

Every citizen or resident of the United States—whether an adult or a minor—who had $600 of gross income in 1953 must file a Federal income tax return. A great deal is known about adults and their filing, but not very much is written about the requirements of minors.

Minors are separate taxpayers, subject to the same filing requirements and entitled to the same exemptions, deductions and credits as other taxpayers. For federal income tax purposes, the minor's earnings, no matter what the source, are for his own tax purposes regardless of the state laws of the state in which he resides.

Minors are required to file federal income tax returns if their gross income was $600 or more during the year. The minor is taxable on his wages and on income received from property he owns or funds that may be held in trust for him. He should file a return and pay his tax even though the parents may have received the money.

In Illinois, a minor is a person who has not attained his twenty-first birthday, if male, or eighteenth birthday, if female.

If a minor files a return, he is entitled to an exemption of $600 for himself. This is his personal, individual exemption. A minor who has gross income of less than $600 whose wages have been subject to withholding, is entitled to a refund. To obtain this refund, he should file the yellow Form 1040A, attach the W-2 wage slip and send the completed form to the District Director's office, 22 West Madison st., Chicago, whereupon, after processing, the refund will be sent to the minor taxpayer.

Hang Up Snow Shovel To Get It Out of Way

Winter weather brings the snow shovel out of its summer storage and means one more thing to get in the way in the garage or utility room. A handy hook on the wall, though, will get the shovel out of "traffic" yet within easy reach when it's needed.

One of the best hooks for this purpose is an inexpensive plastic accessory now on the market. This new-style hook can be attached to any smooth surface without the use of screws, nails, or tools and is guaranteed to hold up to 15 pounds.

The hook has an exclusive wood insert, molded into the back and adhesive-coated, which holds it tightly against any wood, plaster, tile, or even glass surface. To put up the hook you just moisten the back with a few drops of water, work the adhesive into a gluey consistency with your finger, and hold the hook tightly against the wall for one minute. After "setting" for 24 hours the hook is ready for use.

Robert F. Huleigh Leaves For Washington

Robert F. Hurleigh, Mutual network news commentator whose home is on Buckley rd., Barrington, is heard from Washington, D. C., instead of Chicago.

He has resigned his job as director of news at radio station WGN to join Fulton Lewis Enterprises at Washington.

Chicago area listeners hear him only once a day now, and that is 8 a. m. over WGN, Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Hurleigh and their five children plan to stay at their Barrington estate until the end of the school year at least.

Maurice Evans In Richard II On TV Jan. 24

Maurice Evans, whose television performance of "Hamlet" won nationwide acclaim earlier this year, will return to television on Sunday, January 24, in the title role of "King Richard II" in a special two-hour performance of the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

Evans' portrayal of Richard has been termed his finest role by the critics. He last appeared as the "playboy king" on the Broadway stage in 1949.

Cypress Inn Damaged By Fire At Hinsdale

An estimated $70,000 in damage was caused by a blaze last week which gutted the Cypress Inn, Hinsdale restaurant.

Firemen from both the Hinsdale and Western Springs fire departments battled the Ogden ave. blaze from 7:40 a. m.—when the alarm was turned in — until 11:15 a. m.

Believed to have been started by an overheated flue, the fire was discovered by a cook who had been on duty since about 6 a. m. as he walked from the kitchen into one of the rear dining areas.

Local DHIA Herd In States For Ten Highest For November

Cook County had one of the State's 10 highest producing herds in the dairy herd improvement test for November, reports farm adviser Carl F. Mees.

Pol-A-Bar Farm, Barrington, whose herd of 32 Purebred Brown Swiss averaged 1006 pounds of milk and 46.8 pounds of butterfat per cow, ranked 9th in fat production among the 1,734 herds on test in Illinois during the month.

The state average for November was 690 pounds of milk and 27.6 pounds of fat per cow. Pol-A-Bar Farm is a member of the Cook County DHIA.

LAW on the FARM

New Laws on Farm Animals and Dogs

The 1953 Illinois legislature passed several laws affecting livestock and dog owners. Here is a summary of the more important ones:

County Dog license fund. This law was amended to permit an indemnity for poultry. Except for turkeys, which an indemnity of $5.00 per head is already contained in the law, the amount recoverable is "the reasonable market value per head."

Estrays. The law was revised to provide that title to estrays (straying animals running at large) shall vest in the one who takes up the animals (instead of the county) after one year, or after three months if the estray is a swine, sheep, or goat.

GARBAGE FED to swine. An act was passed requiring that all garbage fed to swine or to other animals or poultry on a farm where swine are kept shall be heated or treated in some approved manner to destroy diseases transmitted to swine from garbage. Permits to feed garbage are required. They are procured from the State Department of Agriculture.

All swine on premises where garbage is fed are under quarantine, and except for slaughter can be moved only with the consent of the Department. The term "garbage" does not include waste composed wholly of non-animal matter. The garbage act does not apply to persons feeding only garbage produced in their own household to swine kept on the premises where they reside.

Indemnity for slaughter of sheep. The law providing for payments by the State when diseased animals must be slaughtered, was amended for sheep to provide that two-thirds of the market value may be paid for any registered sheep, such payment not to exceed $100.

DEALERS of live poultry. The law requiring dealers of live poultry to procure a license from the State Department of Agriculture and keep records of their trading was amended, and the penalty for violation increased.

Rabies among dogs. The old rabies act was repealed and a new law passed known as the "Rabies Control Act." This requires the inoculation of all dogs which are not either confined to an enclosed area, on a leash, or muzzled at all times. It provides for the appointment of a county rabies inspector by the county board of supervisors, for the tagging of inoculated dogs and the collection of fees for inoculating and tagging. Dogs not inoculated are to be impounded and the owner notified. Dogs not claimed are to be humanely disposed of. The Department of Agriculture has general supervision of the administration of the act.

The above laws may be found in the Illinois Revised Statutes, 1953, Chapter 8, Sections 19, 20, 23e-23x, 127, 129, 178, 192-202.

Changes in brucellosis laws were discussed in this column last week.

Annual Meeting Of Lake-Cook This Saturday

Alfred D. Smith, General Manager of the Lake-Cook Farm Supply company has announced the 26th annual meeting will be held January 16 in the township high school at Wauconda.

Management stated reports detailing all operations of the company during the past twelve months would be made. He indicated there would be much of vital interest in these reports to the membership.

"During the past year," stated the management, "we have witnessed a steady decline in the prices which farmers get for their products ,and conversely," he continued, "we have also witnessed a continual rise in the cost of those things which farmers buy."

IN EXTENDING a cordial invitation to all farm bureau member patrons to attend the Annual Meeting, Mr. Smith stated that all plans were practically completed.

The principal speaker will be DeWitt Brown, business service manager of Illinois Farm Supply company, a capable and forceful speaker, who through experience is well qualified to discuss items which are of particular interest to farmers and Lake-Cook Farm Supply company patrons.

A lunch prepared by employees will be served to all who attend. Entertainment is on the program.

High Fertilization Sound Conservation Practice Here

Spending a little money for improved conservation practices can change crop production from a losing to a paying proposition. The increased yields will make the difference.

High yields are especially important for profit with farm prices declining and production costs remaining about the same.

E. L. Sauer, soil conservation service economist at the University of Illinois, says studies have shown examples of farmers who have doubled their corn yields by adopting a soil conservations and fertility improvement program.

One farmer boosted corn yields from an average of 40 bushels an acre to an 80 bushels level.

Assuming the value of land on this farm at $200 an acre, and the price of corn at $1.50 per bushel, this man was probably just breaking even on his own corn with a 40-bushel per acre production.

With a production of 80 bushels, he has 40 bushels "take-home" corn. At $1.50 a bushel, this amounts to $60 an acre. That pays for his conservation and fertility improvement program costs, any additional harvesting costs, and gives him a good profit.

To Study Insect Problems At Sprayer School

Insects attacking 1954 farm crops will find the going tougher than it was last year.

The reason is that improved control methods will be brought into play to help stem any large-scale insect invasion during the next growing season.

Specific plans for combating a possibly major insect offensive will be outlined at the 6th custom spray operators' training school to be held at the University of Illinois January 21-22.

ATTENDING will be custom spray operators, spray materials and equipment manufacturers, dealers and salesmen, farm managers, farmers, teachers and others interested in spray operations. Special meetings of the Illinois Aerial Applicators' Association and the Agricultural Spraying Association will be held on January 20.

H. P. Petty, Entomologist with the Illinois college of agriculture and state natural history survey, has released a list of top insect public enemies whose destruction is planned.

THE LIST includes all of the damaging clover insects, spittlebugs, corn borers, chinch bugs, flies, corn earworms, white grubs, grasshoppers and various livestock pests.

Weeds will also share the public enemy spotlight along with insects. The sprayers will study methods of eradicating giant foxtail, Canada thistle, quack grass, brush and other troublesome plant pests.

Petty reports that the latest methods and equipment for applying liquid fertilizers will also be covered in the two-day meetings.

Horseback Riding On Farm TV Show

Horseback riding, a favorite pastime of many city dwellers, will be featured on "Farmtown, U.S.A.," Sunday, January 17.

Harry Cook of Ottawa, president of the Illinois valley horsemen's association. will be one of six guests, according to an announcement by George Menard, master of ceremonies.

Other guests on the Januarp 17 show include:

Howard Roux, director and trail ride chairman.

Sam Harmon, director.

Jack O'Donnell, director.

Wayne Hall, Secretary.

Mrs. Harry Cook.

"Farmtown, U.S.A." can be seen at 12:30 p.m. over station WBBM—TV, channel 2. It is presented with the cooperation of the Illinois agricultural association and the Pure Milk association.

Guests will show their horses and riding equipment on the show. Five horses of various breeds and sizes will also be shown.

Illinois Tech Speaker

Lewis K. Sillcox, president-elect of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will speak at the mid-year commencement exercises of Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, Jan. 30. Approximately 300 Illinois Tech students will receive degrees.

Vegetable Growers' School Monday, Tuesday

The annual vegetable growers' school will be held January 18 and 19 at the St. Matthew's school, Milwaukee ave., beginning at 10:00 a. m., announces Carl F. Mees, Cook county farm adviser.

The following is a program of the subjects to be discussed and the speakers.

To Study Insect Problems At Sprayer School

Insects attacking 1954 farm crops will find the going tougher than it was last year.

The reason is that improved control methods will be brought into play to help stem any large-scale insect invasion during the next growing season.

Specific plans for combating a possibly major insect offensive will be outlined at the sixth custom spray operators' training school to be held at the University of Illinois January 21-22.

ATTENDING will be custom spray operators, spray materials and equipment manufacturers dealers and salesmen, farm managers, farmers, teachers and others interested in spray operations. Special meetings of the Illinois Aerial Applicators' Association and the Agricultural Spraying Association will be held on January 20.

H. B. Petty, entomologist with the Illinois College of Agriculture and State Natural History Survey, has released a list of top insect public enemies whose destruction is planned.

THE LIST includes all of the damaging clover insects, spittlebugs, corn borers, chinch bugs, flies, corn earworms, white grubs, grasshoppers and various livestock pests.

Weeds will also share the public enemy spotlight along with insects. The sprayers will study methods of eradicating giant foxtail, Canada thistle, quack grass, brush and other troublesome plant pests.

Petty reports that the latest methods and equipment for applying liquid fertilizers will also be covered in the two-day meeting.

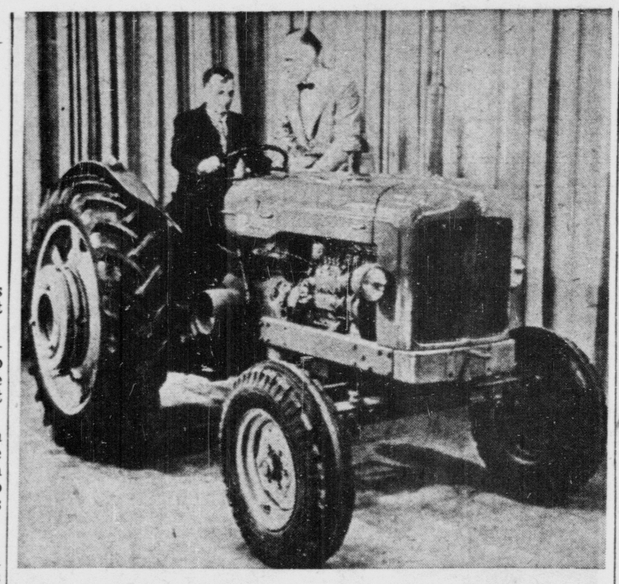

Oats Can Replace Corn In Beef Cattle Wintering Ration

Oats can replace corn and be fed along with a full feed of legume hay or legume silage as a wintering ration for beef cattle. However, you'll have to feed more oats, as they're not equal to corn in feed value.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois, says that, on a pound-for-pound basis, oats are worth about 90 per cent as much as corn.

This means that it takes about two bushels of oats to equal a bushel of corn.

Carlisle says it's not necessary to grind oats for calves, but he recommends grinding them coarsely for yearlings or older cattle.

Claude Pynakker of P & W Farm Machinery, Des Plaines, is shown with J. R. McLaughlin of MacCarthy Ford tractor sales, distributors, on the powerful new Fordson Major diesel tractor at its introduction to Ford tractor dealers at Kankakee recently. The rugged orange and blue diesel, manufactured by Ford Motor Co., Ltd. of England, weighs approximately 5700 pounds and has six forward and two reverse speeds. The four cylinder overhead valve engine has a compression ratio of 16:1 and a 220 cu. in. piston displacement.

Wheat Surplus Greatest Of All Products

The midwest farm product in greatest surplus is wheat, but some important types of wheat are in very short supply and are selling for more than the price support level.

The United States normally uses about 480 million bushels of wheat for food. Another 75 million bushels are needed for seed. This makes total needs for food and seed around 555 million bushels.

The total supply of wheat available this year (beginning last July 1) was 1,730 million bushels. Thus the supply was more than three times as great as is needed in one year for food and seed.

SOFT RED winter wheat is selling further below the price support level than any other type of wheat. This is the type generally grown in southern Illinois and across the central part of the eastern half of the United States. The No. 2 grade sold recently (December 17) for $2.10 a bushel at St. Louis—43 cents below the corresponding terminal support price. Flour from this type of wheat is especially good for biscuits and cake. Consumer demand for such flour has decreased in recent years, and many flour mills that made it have closed.

Hard winter wheat is selling better than soft red winter. The hard winter wheat is the type grown in the Great Plains States, and most of the wheat grown in the northern half of Illinois is of this type. Flour from this wheat makes excellent bread, and it is highly desired by foreign importers.

RECENT PRICES for No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City ranged from $2.28 to $2.48 a bushel—2 to 20 cents below the terminal support price. The variations in prices reflect different percentages of protein in different lots of wheat: The more protein, the higher the price.

The northern Great Plains States and Canada grow two types of spring wheat—durum and dark northern spring. The DNS type produces a very good bread flour. Each lot is priced according to its protein content. No. 1 DNS, ordinary protein wheat, was recently priced at $2.36 a bushel at Minneapolis. This is 16 cents under the corresponding loan rate at that terminal. The same class of wheat, but with 15 per cent protein, brought $2.65 a bushel—or 9 cents more than the government loan rate.

Durum wheat is used for macaroni and such. It brings a big premium, selling lately at Minneapolis for $3.82 a bushel, or $1.30 a bushel more than the price support rate.

ADVOCATES of production control for wheat claim that controls are necessary because a lowering of the price of wheat does not boost the consumption of bread. This claim is true for our own country, but it is not the most important point.

The really important fact is that relatively small reductions in price would enable us to sell much larger quantities for export and for feed in our own country. Many farmers would prefer moderately lower prices for wheat to acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Such a program would also be more popular with U. S. taxpayers and with our foreign friends.

Delayed-Action Fuse May Solve Problem

Cold-weather starting of electric motors often means blown fuses. But a delayed-action fuse will take such a temporary overload and still protect the motor if it stalls.

Frank Andrew, rural electrification specialist at the University of Illinois, says delayed-action fuses cost only a little more than ordinary fuses. They not only offer cheap insurance agaist burned-out motors, but may prevent a stubborn and expensive fire.

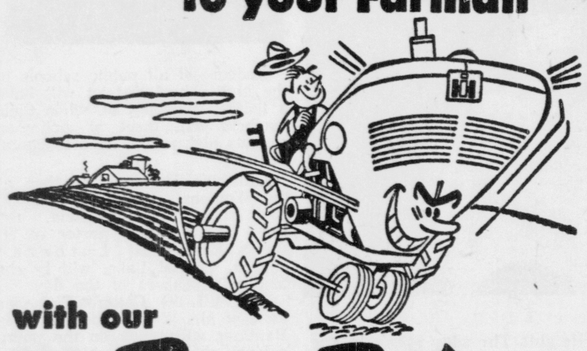

If you simply use a larger fuse to take care of the starting problem, warns Andrew, you may overload the wiring or burn out the motor if it stalls.

'Driver Training Makes Better Teenage Drivers,' Say Arlington Heights Police

"This program has done wonders. We don't have half the traffic violations by teen-agers that we had before the program."

"The program is terrific. Our teen-agers are not getting into the traffic courts."

These are not statements by driver-training teachers, but are by the men in the best possible position to know just how effective driver training is in this area, Judge William F. Neumann, of the Arlington Heights police Court, and Carl Skoog, Chief of Police.

Their enthusiasm is duplicated by police officers and magistrates in communities throughout the nation. Insurance companies have joined the list of ardent supporters of the high school driver training program by offering lower rates to owners of cars driven by persons under 25 years of age who have had the training.

IN THIS AREA, the program is handled by the Arlington Heights high school, which now has three training cars and six instructors. The cars are loaned to the school by automobile manufacturers through their local dealers. George C. Poole, Inc., Lattof Motor Sales Co., and Harry H. Knaack Motor Sales, Inc. are now participating in the program.

Instructors are graduates of approved driver-training seminars and have certificates entitling them to teach driver-training in this area.

John Schaff, head of the driver training program at Arlington Heights high school, has organized the instruction in a way which differs from that of most schools. Four nine-week terms are offered with a maximum enrollment of 60 students per term. Each student has two training periods per week in the cars, after he has completed one week of classroom instruction which prepares him for the written test preliminary to obtaining a temporary driver's permit.

In most cases students are ready for their license test at the end of the term. Home practice facilities dictate the choice of training with automatic or standard transmissions. Training on the automatic transmission qualifies a driver for a license which is restricted to this type of equipment.

PERMANENT driving records are kept as part of each student's permanent file in the school office. High school students pay only the cost of gas and oil used in the training and $1 to the state for their permit and license.

This is the sixth year of driver-training at the high school. Enrollment has been small this year because of the new driver's license law, but there is every indication that it will exceed last year's 200, since a large number of students will reach their 16th birthday during the year and will be qualified for their temporary permits. In the future director Schaff expects 70 to 80 per cent of all local high school students to take the course.

Adults are enrolled in the program through the Adult Evening school, both in classes and for individual instruction.

Classes provide ten hours of classroom instruction and ten hours behind the wheel with another student and instructor. Both fall and winter terms are offered, and enrollment has varied between 25 and 40.

* * *

ABOUT 30 PER semester elect to take individual instruction by the hour, for which they pay tuition to cover both the use of the car and wages to the instructor.

Harris Trust V-P

Lambert W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire Lane, Arlington Heights, was elected a vice president of Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, by the board of directors at its December meeting.

Bredehoft became associated with Harris Trust in 1934 after graduation from Northwestern university, and is a member of one of the bank's loaning divisions. He was elected an assistant cashier in 1947, and an assistant vice-president in 1949. He was separated from the navy a lieutenant in 1946 after serving in the Central Pacific as a communications officer.

He is a member of the Executives club of Chicago, the American finance association, the American institute of banking, the Robert Morris associates, Phi Beta Kappa, and the university club of Chicago. A member of Arlington Heights First Presbyterian church, Bredehoft married the former Helen Pierce and has two sons, William and Carl.

Austria Teacher to Speak at Teachers' Institute Wednesday

Students of all public schools in the high school district will have a holiday January 20, when their teachers will meet at Arlington Heights high school for a teachers' institute.

Katherine Hammer, teacher at the Womens' Vocational school, Bad Ischl, Upper Austria, and Rev. Harold Wilke, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Crystal Lake, will be the featured speakers of the day.

"For all the Children," is the topic of Mr. Wilke's address. Miss Hammer will speak on the political and economic situation of Austria and its effect on education.

A number of panel discussions and study groups will take up specific current problems for study and discussion during the day.

List Six More Buyers Of Gambling Stamps

Six stamps issued since November 10 for slot machine locations in Norridge, Palatine and Northfield are among tax stamp purchases revealed Wednesday by Ernest J. Sauber, district director of revenue for the northern district of Illinois.

Stanley and Susan Nauseda, 4550 N. Harlem ave., Norwood Park township, got one of the stamps. They had previously taken out a stamp October 8, 1953.

Emily Blonda of the Outdoor Theater Bowl, 4330 Harlem, got another of the new stamps. James Markus was arrested there when sheriff's police raided the place for slot machines on April 23 and July 28, 1950.

Peggy Doessler and Anne J. Melton, 4601 Harlem, took out their first slot machine stamp Wednesday.

Ray Schneider, Box 123, Rte 1, Northbrook, got a first stamp.

Richard Gorski, Box 328, RFD 1, Waukegan rd., near Lake ave., Glenview, also got a stamp Wednesday. He has a long record of raids and slot machine stamps. The place has been known as Two Point Inn.

Clarence and Evelyn Rasmussen, of the Donkey Inn, Wilmette and Plum Grove rds., Palatine, have bought their first slot stamp.

Cook county locations account for 48 of the new locations listed Wednesday by Sauber, keeping its first place among northern Illinois counties in the number of slot machine stamps issued this fiscal year.

Since last June 30, 275 slot machine tax stamps have been issued in this county alone, with 529 in all of northern Illinois.

Knaack Motors, Arlington Heights Thursday Men's league entry in the Paddock bowling tourney in Bensenville Sunday, led the third shift with a 2797 gross, good enough for seventh place. This elevator operates on the port side of the ship, between the hangar deck and the flight deck. It has special value because disabled planes can be parked there away from the deck proper. There are two other elevators that operate between the hangar and flight decks. Above picture was taken from the hangar deck as the elevator was going upwards. It moves very fast. The captain's gig and other boats are launched by means of a large crane from the elevator as it is stationed on the hangar deck level.

Editor Tells Story of 'Five Weeks Before the Mast'

Fifteenth Installment

by STUART R. PADDOCK

GENERAL QUARTERS

The real meaning of general quarters was illustrated to this editor when a small group accompanied Commander Avery, executive officer of the Bennington to the "Second" bridge in the prow of the ship beneath the flight deck. From that location, the ship could be entirely taken over if the captain's bridge was shot away.

It was just a "listening post" for us. No orders were issued from "our" bridge, but a crew of technicians with phones plugged in on all communication lines that reach the main bridge kept Avery and us visitors acquainted with exactly what was happening throughout the ship. In actual warfare, that "second" bridge, (in navy terms, the "com"), could become the nerve center of the ship. All the equipment was there and waiting for an emergency.

The battle problem to be used that day had been secretly planned by the damage control officer and the chief engineer. Twelve spotters were at various parts of the ship and at appointed times marked with chalk upon decks, bulkheads or electrically operated units, the predetermined damage at such point. Damage control men were notified and began repair work.

BURNING RAGS in a pail of water created a lot of smoke, but quick action by firefighters extinguished it. More serious was the message that an electrical unit had burned out. Electric cables carrying 440 volts were plugged into receptacles isolating the damaged unit and enabled the remaining electrical power and reserve units to continue to function.

As general quarters is sounded, the entire crew of the ship, including those working in laundry, bake shop, etc., take their battle stations. Hatches are closed. The ship is in truth locked up, each man is supposed to have reached his appointed station before hatches are closed.

Operation of a general alarm requires about an hour, after which the ship's crew returns to regular duties and hatches are reopened.

Manning of the guns, life boats, and the multitude of other operations that would be so important if the ship was actually attacked is minutely carried out. If an apartment is reported flooded, air pressure is built up therein to see if the closed hatches leak. Emergency pumps must also be started.

GENERAL QUARTERS are required twice weekly or as much oftener as is necessary to train the crew. It is in an actual wartime exercise, such as Exercise Mariner, that ship's officers learn unexpected and impossible things can happen. As an example today, a tractor went off the prow of the ship because a cable snapped. The operator threw himself to the deck, otherwise he would have gone overboard.

A U. S. carrier has as many nerves as the human body. Engineers in their efforts to protect human bodies on the war vessels, have devised reserve hearts and nerves to keep ships of war going, even if one of the many "hearts" of the ship is put out of commission.

Inventive genius is constantly at work. Commander Avery told us as we left the "second com," "Every accident that may occur on a ship sets in motion studies of ways in which it could have been prevented. The life and safety of our men is our first thought."

Even in war games, fatalities can happen. There have been 14 since this ship was recommissioned in the fall of 1952.

MOTHER MAY use needle and thread to make repairs about the house and father may use hammer and nails and a bit of cement to keep the farm buildings in shape. In the U. S. Navy, it is steel and the acetylene torch that does the trick. Wooden timbers may be used to "shore" threatening bulges, but in the usual vernacular of fireproof construction, the landlubber does not know the real meaning of that word until he views general quarters from a safe secluded position in the bow of the ship and he hears telephone reports of damage, fire and flood about the ship. Reports of torpedo or bomb strikes that have not only pierced the ship armor, but have partially crippled the ship are only similated, but the repairs are a step further than simulation. The reported four foot wide hole in the deck has brought damage control men to the spot. The real hole may not be there, but there must be evidence that the torch was in use on the surrounding area.

The admiral told us during one of our visits that although the U.S. and United Kingdom navy are like brothers, cooperative action is difficult because of differences in their communication system. Great Britain hopes to have the funds by 1956 to install a communication system similar to that in use today on U. S. ships, but, by that time, the U. S. may be still two years ahead as new inventions are found.

If a British plane wants to get a message to an American plane on the same mission, it has to first send its message to an English ship which in turn sends it to the Bennington which in turn passes it back to the American pilots.

* * *

A MEMBER of the staff, sitting at my side, said in part, "Will the actual ravages of war have to come to continental U. S. before our people will again give blood to the Red Cross, buy government savings bonds, and cease asking for reductions in income taxes so that they can buy more of the luxuries of life?"

Copland Lecture

Aaron Copland, Pulitzer prize winning American composer, will speak at 8:15 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 14, in Northwestern University's Lutkin hall, University pl. and Orrington ave., Evanston. His talk on "Aspects of American Music" is open to the public without charge.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Most parents, loving their children, seek to encourage them to be industrious, work hard, and save their money. The examples shown by parents often give children the idea that wealth and power are the beginning and end of all happiness; and that an inheritance must be of material things.

Difficult as it seems to amass a fortune to pass on to one's children in insurances, stocks and bonds, and the prestige of affluence, it is even more difficult to pass on to them an inheritance which should be within the reach of all, an inheritance of courage, the desire to search constantly for eternal truth, to bear pain and hardship with fortitude, to be gentle, considerate, and to know how to win the love and esteem of others.

YET TO PASS on to posterity these things is to leave them an enduring heritage which will bring them greater happiness and a more fulfilled life than all of the gold bonds, annuities or prestige existing in the world.

Your children may, in the course of their lifetime, exhaust the material things you leave behind through poor investment, downright extravagance, or misfortune; but if you leave them a strong character, a gentle heart, a love of truth, patience, honesty, courage, and virtue, their inheritance will endure for their lifetime, will grow with use, and will enable them to pass on to their children an even greater heritage.

THE HABIT of working hard and saving money is a good one; but it is only the smaller part of our earthly wealth. True riches lie in a knowledge of how to live happily, to have peace of mind, freedom from fear, and a belief in eternal life. If you can leave to your children all these things, you have left them the greatest possible security and heritage.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

If I had had to go in an ambulance, I was bound and determined to keep my date with Lynn and Donna in town today! Frankly, I felt like an ambulance case. I just can't seem to shake this cold I've had on and off since December 1. But, cold or no cold, I certainly wasn't going to miss seeing two of my dear school chums, having lunch with them, and then going to see "Cinerama." So, armed with about fifty sheets of neatly folded Kleenex and my nose drops, I drove into town this morning, having left Megan and Bridget in the capable hands of Mrs. Conder.

I really don't remember when I was in the "loop" last, but since I was there, they've made many changes in which way traffic goes on what streets. It seemed to me that every time I wanted to turn down some street, everyone was traveling in the opposing direction. I had practically resigned myself to the fact that I was never going to meet the girls at the Palmer House, but rather was going to end up in south Chicago some place unable to turn off of the street that I was on, when I noticed that there were no "No Turns" signs and I was able to maneuver the car in the northerly direction of my destination.

SNEEZING, SNIFFLING, confused but happy, I met the girls, fifteen minutes late, just outside the Town and Country lounge. Over a bracing beverage, we quickly caught up on each other's current activities. Since the theatre tickets had unexpectedly been bought for us as a treat from Donna's father, we felt that we could splurge with our extra money and have lunch in the Empire Room.

I must admit, we were pleasantly surprised to find the larger portion of the luncheon menu boasting prices under $2.00—but hold on, there's a catch. Our three little cups of coffee came to a hefty $1.20, and the mysterious "3 B. B.—.60" was, of course, bread and butter. Well, we concluded that they had to pay those nice people playing soft, luncheon background music somehow, and being in a gay mood, decided that the lovely atmosphere and pleasant service was worth it anyway.

A hasty taxi ride got us to the theatre and into our perfect seats just a few minutes before the great red curtains slid away from the huge semi-circular screen and "This is Cinerama" began. Lowell Thomas, the commentator throughout the film, began the movie, standing in what could have been his study and giving an informal talk on the birth of the movie industry and its progress to date. Then, as if holding the audience in suspense long enough, he announced, "and this is cinerama!"

AS THE PICTURE BEGAN, what should we be doing right off the bat but getting into a bright red roller coaster, amidst all the brassy, loud sounds of the amusement park, and starting up the first incline which, believe me, was to be the beginning of a hair-raising trip. As you looked to the side, you could see the girders tearing past, and as you looked straight ahead you could feel the terrifying sensation of the downward plunge and the pull of the hairpin curves. We couldn't have been any more relieved to see the roller coaster pull into the starting platform, if we had actually been in it.

During the first half of the film we enjoyed a celebration of the clans in Scotland, the triumphal scene from the opera, "Aida," a spectacular, panoramic view of Niagara Falls from an airplane, and a very realistic ride through the canals of Venice.

WE ALL AGREED that the second half of this film was superior to the first (although I imagine that the on and off jiggling of the middle section of the picture during the first part influenced our decision, as it really was quite annoying.) The beauty and excitement of our visit to the Cypress Gardens was indescribable. We took a leisurely ride through channels bordered by vivid tropical flowers, watched, from only a few feet away, the breath-taking antics of the water skiers, and took a death-defying ride in one of those bullet-like speed boats.

The finale of the film was a cross-country airplane trip. Unless perhaps you were the pilot, it would be impossible to see from a plane such a complete, unobstructed panorama of the land and mountains below. I don't think at any time in my life, even though I have seen many of the wonders first hand, have I felt as strongly the grandeur and vast spaciousness of our country as I did during this sequence. It alone is worth the price of admission.

To be sure, as with any innovation, there are things in cinerama to be smoothed out—for instance the division of the three sections is always discernible and occasionally one section jiggles, however, the thrill of witnessing this brilliant new medium, regardless of its first-attempt-imperfections, is never lost to the viewer.

My love,
Patty.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

For years, while our middle fries were in the painful process of growing up, we were forced to listen to the insane chatter of a television program called Howdy Doody. No matter what inducements were offered to the youthful listeners, their devotion to the puppet and Buffalo Bob was unshakable.

Our youngest fry has performed the miracle of shaming them out of it. She thinks it is a terrible program and put up such a howl they have been forced to give up the love of their lives. We trust they will bear no grudge.

We are inclined to give the youngest the equivalent of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Speaking of the young, and we usually are, we have just made a threat to ours that has them very upset. Every time that our family has acquired a new piece of furniture, the days have become hidious with strain.

This strain arises from our running around protecting the new addition from such minor mishaps as having initials carved into gleaming surfaces, little white circles made by "coke" glasses set on brown wood, and other little nicks that make their mysterious appearances.

According to the young, not a one of them does these things, like Topsy they just grow. Of course, in due time the strain goes as we just reach the point when we no longer have anything to protect.

As each of our girls walk down the aisle, dressed in white and complete with wedding bouquets, we plan on trailing right along behind them lugging that coffee table with the legs off, that lamp that will not stand straight any more, that end table with the full name of someone ground into it.

These will come under the heading of wedding gifts from us to them. We have been accused of being bestial and caddish about the whole thing. We keep saying that it will be only poetic justice. We secretly wonder if we will have the nerve to carry out this fiendish plan. We hope so. Posterity needs a lesson.

Our New Year's resolution was a silly one. We solemnly resolved to finish all the projects that we have started. As these number around three thousand in round figures, we are almost licked before we have started.

We think that instead we will enroll in an efficiency school to see if we can learn how to go about being efficient so we may finish the projects next year. As it is, our resolution appears so staggering to us that we just sit around with our mind in a pitch wondering where to start. This could take us well into 1955. As it is with most resolutions, this one has got to go.

Gifts For Yanks

Our Tenth Annual Christmas Gifts to Yanks Who Gave program once more was a success. Your newspaper assisted materially in bringing this program to the attention of the public with the result that it was graciously and generously supported.

Thus, you and your newspaper materially assisted us in attaining our goal, which was to provide for more than 15,000 sick and disabled war veterans who were patients in 45 Illinois hospitals. At a total cost of about $47,000, each of these veterans was provided with an appropriate package of Christmas gifts with a retail value of $7.50.

There were no distinctions in this program. Veterans in the state institutions, veterans administration and county hospitals, as well as those at Great Lakes hospital and other government installations all were remembered. All of the work of handling the gifts, wrapping them and the final distribution was done by volunteer workers of the American Legion and its Auxiliary.

Many letters have been received from patients, relatives and managers of the hospitals commending the American Legion for carrying on this program year after year. We are eager to share these honors with you and your readers who were so generous in responding to our appeals for contributions, because we are only too well aware that we could not have done the job alone.

Info' On Xmas

One of the definitions of X (cap). as appears in Webster's New International Dictionary, Second Edition (Unabridged) "The word Christ, alone or in combination (chiefly in Xmas), or, sometimes, the word Christian. X in this use is properly the Greek letter chi (like X in form) initial letter of Xp (Greek chi and rho), is often Christos, Christ. Xt or, Obs., XP, used instead of X, as in Xtian."

As for the closed doors; there being a slight differential in temperature at this time of year between indoors and out, many prudent people keep them closed as much as possible.

Worth Four Bucks

Today I received your notice that my subscription to the Palatine Enterprise is expiring next month. Really, I hate to lay out the four bucks you are asking, but worse, I can never get along without the Enterprise. So here is my check for four bucks.

Just today I received this week's copy of the Enterprise and one article in it was worth four bucks. That's the ordinance setting up a business license fee for the Palatine merchants.

So, never knowing when you have four bucks' worth of stuff in the Palatine Enterprise, I want to make sure of getting it and shall continue to stay on the subscription list.

Don't Use Xmas

Why, Oh why do you use the term XMAS? Christmas belongs to Christ. It is the anniversary of His birth. X denotes an unknown quantity. Christ is certainly NOT an unknown quantity to the really true believers in Him. Apparently you took little notice of the fine contribution to the Fence Post by C. F. Sommerfield of Palatine, in your December 31st issue.

Please, Mr. Editor, won't you banish forever, from your paper, this awful term? It is like a sword in the heart of all who really have a personal relationship with the Lord, Jesus Christ, and to whom He is a real person, companion, friend and Saviour. Please let His name be honored on His Day.

Thanks Players

Mrs. Charles Stadleman, president of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, wishes to extend on behalf of the membership of Arlington Heights Woman's club, her sincere thanks and appreciation for the splendid performance and assistance by the Village Theatre group under the direction of Marian B. Malcomson of the annual marking of the Woman's club founding date with the play written and edited by Mrs. K. B. Hawley titled, "Reminiscing." This is truly a talented group. The Village Theatre group is not appreciated enough by many, and only when such a need arises as it did with the Woman's club, does the great talent and cooperation of this group make itself felt.

Dangerous Loop-Hole

Now that the second session of the 83rd Congress is in session, it is more vital than ever to watch for senate resolution No. 1, the Bricker amendment. Because of a loop-hole in our Constitution (Article 6), treaties become the supreme law of our land, governing not only foreign affairs, but domestic. When we accepted the United Nations charter in treaty form there arose new and unforeseen dangers. As a result of a treaty with NATO countries, our boys, drafted and sent overseas to protect foreign lands are stripped of their protection under their Constitutional rights, and made subject to the jurisdiction of foreign courts. I shudder to think of my three boys under such jurisdiction.

The purpose of the Bricker Amendment is to remove this danger. It automatically invalidates any provision of any treaty which overrides our Constitution. It is designed to plug the loop-hole; to prevent secret agreements, safeguard our national sovereignty, State's Rights, and individual freedom. The United States is the only major participant in the entire U N which permits ratified treaties to become "the supreme law of the land." Let's give ourselves that same protection other nations provide for themselves!

AMERICAN BAR Association, our leading legal minds in the nation, by a wide majority voted to support the adoption of the Bricker Amendment. The Knowland Amendment offered as a substitute is inadequate, hurriedly drafted, and was never submitted to the American Bar Association or the Senate Judiciary Committee for study. Instead of plugging the loop-hole, the Knowland substitute opens the door to wider use of treaty power as a means for domestic legislation.

The Bricker Amendment is passed by Congress must still be approved by the legislatures of 36 States before it actually becomes an amendment. Senator Bricker proposes to block the one easy road through which this country could be made subservient to the laws of a world government. If you care as an alert citizen and voter why not write or wire the Honorable Everett Dirksen and Honorable Paul Douglas, in care of Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., expressing your views and learn their stand? This is a vital issue of the day and even a postal card would influence —as Lincoln said, "to sin by silence when they should protest makes cowards of men."

Not A Dead Duck

Pardon me for not concurring with your saying that "what might have been" Davis st. extension in Arlington Heights is a dead duck.

On the contrary, now is the time for all businessmen of our town, possibly with your help, to do something about this problem which stymied business expansion for too long already.

In my opinion, there are two ways feasible to accomplish this.

1. As so often is done with other builders, no building permit should be granted to the company unless said part of street is dedicated to the village.

2. If the above is legally not possible, then condemnation proceedings could be started early enough, that at the time the old Tibbits buildings are wrecked, the cost of acquiring the street could not be prohibitive.

Naturally our village fathers must not be timid and awed by the big Hill-Behan Lumber company, but have the best interest of our town in their minds foremost and solely.

For obvious reasons, I dare not sign except as one of:

Scout Paper Drive

The North side paper drive last Saturday netted about 12 tons of paper in Arlington Heights. The paper drive committee would like to thank Paddock Publications for the publicity; Arlington Seating Co., George C. Poole, and E.W.A. Rowles Co., for the use of their trucks, and the many good neighbors who took the trouble of bundling their papers and putting them out for collection.

We also appreciate the many bundles that were brought in person to the North side school grounds. A word of caution in this however—if you do bring your own bundles to the pick-up center, please do so before the trucks leave at noontime. There are no facilities to care for paper after the trucks have left.

Railroad Danger

Several tragic railroad crossing accidents should have proven sufficient cause for public alarm and clamor over the situation which makes us all sitting ducks for every train which roars through the village. True, there was a flurry of anxiety and concern, and during the critical rush hours police are now stationed at the State rd. and Northwest hwy. crossing to regulate traffic over the tracks. Somewhere in the immediate uproar following one of the accidents, I recall that the problem was designated for study by the village board.

The angry clamor faded out rather rapidly, though I hope not the concern and anxiety. Death is something that comes only once. Our concern over this problem is of little value to those who have already lost their lives and it is of little comfort to the loved ones of the unfortunates.

THE STATIONING of the police is to be commended as a speedy and excellent aid to the problem, but it cannot be a permanent solution nor is it a satisfactory one. It diverts one or two men from what is perhaps already a too small force for this community from other duties such as the nabbing of the numerous maniacs who still burn their tires on Arlington streets. Also, it does not solve the problem and the dangers, which are in a sense greater, during the off hours of the day and night.

This is most certainly a problem of large proportions which cannot be met completely in any short period of time. However, it is one which should command immediate and concentrated attention to provide a solution at the earliest possible time. It is not a pleasant thought but it is too close to the truth to avoid stating that the probabilities are great that others will die at our railroad crossings before a solution is found and established.

IT SEEMS to me that there is one more partial solution to the situation which can be applied until the ultimate goal is achieved. This involves the responsibility and the action of the men who operate the gates. I feel certain that many have witnessed as I have or perhaps have been the unfortunate object of the carelessness and inefficiency of these gatemen when they wait until the last minute to bring down the gates and by so doing, all too frequently bang them down while someone is just crossing the tracks.

There seems to be little excuse for the sudden bringing down of the gates if the operator has given sufficient time to ring the warning bells. Those bells should ring long enough to allow those who have just started across or are part way across to gain clearance before bringing down the gates. There is something very wrong with the system or the men which makes it necessary to slam down the gates immediately upon the first warning ring.

MOUNT PROSPECT

$16,500!!

You won't believe this until you see it. A brand new face brick ranch home in one of our finest Mt. Prospect neighborhoods. And what quality! All plastered, clear oak floors, ceramic tiled bath, American cabinet kitch., flush lighting, Lennox gas ht., Thermopane picture window, shaded by wide ranch eaves; 23 ft. living rm., 2 bedrms. It's so much more for your money, you'll wonder why. The answer is simple—the owner-contractor does much of his own work, has little overhead and takes only a fair profit. It's ready to decorate, the cost is included, all we need is your color selection.

COMFORT & LOCATION WITH INCOME!!

One of Mt. Prospect's few 2 flats is now available for purchase. A fine pressed brick building having 5 rooms plus sleeping porch on 1st floor and 2 cute 4 room apts. on the 2nd. Located on the near South Side just 2 minutes walk to stores and depot. In addition to fine income available from the house there are 5 garages which will produce $30.00 more income each month. May be purchased with or without choice building lot which adjoins. $22,500 with 100 ft. frontage.

CARD OF THANKS

The father, brothers and their families of the late Marie Campbell Miller extend their sincere thanks to all her neighbors and friends during their recent sorrow.

Her family.

CARD OF THANKS

May we take this method of thanking all relatives neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in the recent loss of our husband, father and grandfather. These expressions have been deeply appreciated.

Family of the late Herman F. Miller.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our appreciation to all who were so sympathetic during our recent bereavement.

Family of the late Gus Reuss

Death Notices

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dad and husband, Herman Frank, just one month ago Dec. 12, 1953.

Gone is the soul that we have loved —
A husband who has done his work —
A friendly person, loved by all
Who, from his duties, did not shirk,
But on and on he forged ahead
Until his work on earth was done
And now he sits among the blest
Beside the Christ—the Father's Son.
We will not pause to shed a tear
For we shall meet him over there
Where greater duties are performed
In cloudless lands where all is fair.

Wife Elsie and children.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to sincerely thank all who were so kind and considerate during our recent period of sorrow.

Joseph Glomp and sons

In Texas

Ralph J. Gjoen, 19, son of Jacob Gjoen, 830 S. Arthur ave., Arlington Heights, is completing his air force basic military training course at Lackland air force base, the "gateway to the air force."

His basic military training is preparing him for entrance into air force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course includes a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Receives Discharge

Sgt. Robert Neumann, S. State rd., Arlington Heights, received his discharge at Quantico, Va., January 3.

Sgt. Neumann returned from Korea Thanksgiving day after serving there for 13 months. He had been in the service for two years.

Neumann plans to work for the Edwin Meyer Construction Co. in Arlington Heights.

In Korea

Army Private Erwin H. Schoo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schoo, Devon ave., Route 3, Bensenville, recently spent a seven-day rest and recuperation leave in Kokura, Japan.

Normally stationed in Korea with IX Corps' 212th Military Police Company, Schoo stayed at one of Japan's best resort hotels and enjoyed many luxuries unobtainable on the war-torn peninsula.

District Regulates Setting Grass Fires

Barrington Countryside fire protection district has passed an ordinance prohibiting the setting of any grass or prairie fire by residents of the district without first obtaining a permit from the fire chief.

Penalty for violation is a fine of $50 to $250.

The ordinance covers false alarms and the calling of equipment unnecessarily. It does not prohibit the burning of leaves or rubbish which have been raked and piled away from other combustible material, if such fires are properly attended.

With Uncle Sam

In Korea

John F. Dickenscheidt, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Konrad Dickenscheidt, Route 1, Roselle, was recently promoted to corporal while serving with IX Corps in Korea.

The corps, one of three in Korea, coordinates the intensive post-truce training and reconditioning of UN units under its control.

Corporal Dickenscheidt, who is assigned to the 424th field artillery battalion's battery B, entered the army in August 1952, and holds the UN and Korean service ribbons.

In Japan

Pvt. Warren F. Ahrens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ahrens, 139 Hickory ave., Bartlett, was recently graduated from the field wiremen course at the army's Eta Jima specialist school in Japan.

The course, administered by the signal corps, includes instruction in the installation and maintenance of field wire communications and operation of field telephone swtchboards.

Ahrens will now be assigned as a communications specialist with an army unit in Japan or Korea. He has been in the army since last May.

Need Price Support Program That Will Cut Surpluses With Minimum Of Gov't Controls

by ..RA TAFT RENSON

Any effective solution of today's farm problem must provide methods for reducing our huge stockpile of agricultural commodities and at the same time prevent further burdensome accumulations.

Getting rid of these surpluses is only half of our problem. Even if we were able to bring them down to manageable proportions, we would soon acquire new hoards of wheat, corn, cotton and butter under the existing system of price supports.

* * *

WE AL' DY have approximately $2.5 billions tied up in loans on farm commodities, in addition to an e ial amount invested in goods which we own outright — $5 billions in all.

Our present program does not encourage the production shifts which are required to meet the changing market demands for various commodities.

Of course, we could destroy some of our surpluses. Remember the government's potato fiasco of a few years ago?

Or we might plow under every third row of cotton and kill little pigs. Remember the mid-1930's?

Actually, we would not even consider such wasteful practices.

WE ARE ATTEMPTING to move surplus food and fiber into foreign markets. World prices, however, are well below the figures at which we acquired these commodities under our price support operations. This means that we will be forced to take substantial losses on whatever we sell abroad.

At the same time, we must avoid outright dumping, which would disrupt normal trade channels and bring down upon us the wrath of other friendly countries.

There are these other alternatives: We can make a real effort to move surpluses out of warehouses and into stomachs by promoting greater public consumption of some commodities. We can push forward in our research programs to uncover new uses for farm goods. We can throw our entire weight behind plans for expanding present foreign markets and finding new outlets overseas.

SUCH METHODS, while they will not produce results as quickly as dumping or destroying food, offer a far sounder approach to our basic problems.

Along those lines, I can report that our promotional campaign, undertaken with the meat industry and food stores, is producing real results. We are consuming beef this year at the rate of 75 pounds per person the highest in our history.

Farm exports have turned upward since July 1, reflecting our emphasis upon expanding trade. Continued high employment at home, with national income at record levels, means a strong demand for farm goods in the United States.

OUR POPULATION is growing at a rate of more than 2,000,000 per year, which means that by 1975 there will be 200,000,000 Americans. Our future farm problems may involve questions of shortages, rather than surpluses.

We cannot wait for an expanding population to solve our immediate troubles, however. We need an interim program to encourage shifts to other crops. We must halt further build-ups of government stockpiles now.

Our urgent need is for a price support program which can be adjusted in terms of production and demand. One which will effectively reduce surpluses, with a minimum of government controls.

That is our immediate goal. Such a program will be offered to congress by this administration in January.

Precipitation Below Normal During 1953

Total precipitation in 1953 in Crystal Lake was 23.31 inches or far below normal to cause a low water level in the lake, in streams and to result in numerous wells going dry. Total snowfall measured 25½ inches which was also below normal.

Precipitation and snow for the 12 months were as follows:

	Rain	Snow
January	.53	10.75
February	.81	.75
March	.85	5.00
April	2.35	1.50
May	2.32
June	4.67
July	3.10
August	.77
September	2.44
October	.61
November	.46	3.50
December	4.40	5.50
Total	23.31	25.50

Greatest Year

Arthur H. Bothen, assistant vice president of the Lincoln National Bank of Chicago reports that both deposits and total resources were the largest the bank ever reported in a statement of condition in its nine year history. Total loans in its number and dollar volume were greater in 1953 than any previous year.
